COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(UP)—Republican jubilation over the election triumph that put the G. O. P. back into command in Ohio was tempered somewhat today by a realization of the heavy tasks facing the administration of Governor-elect John W. Bricker when he takes office next January.

The incoming administration will be confronted with a host of some of the most serious problems in the history of the state government, and the new governor and the Republican legislature will have to tackle them at once. Relief, old age pensions and a generally difficult financial situation will be clamoring for attention. The school problem may still be unsolved. In addition Bricker is pledged to institute reforms in the day-to-day conduct of the state's business.

The responsibility will be almost wholly Republican for the party was victorious on virtually every front in Tuesday's election. Bricker, according to the secretary of state's tabulation won by an 89-504 majority.

Charles Kuhn, Maplewood avenue, will report in B. T. Hedges' justice of peace court Saturday at 7:30 p. m. to answer a charge of failure to stop before entering an intersection as the result of an auto collision Wednesday at the intersection of Route 277 and Judas road about three miles north of Clarksburg.

Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, who investigated the accident, said a car driven by Charles Scott, 217 E. Union street, and hauling U. S. mail, involved in a collision with an auto driven by Mr. Kuhn and owned by Chester Large, Williamsport Route 2. Both drivers were riding alone. Neither was hurt. Scott filed the charge against Kuhn.

A cattle truck driven by Ray O'Neal, 413 S. Court street, was damaged at 12:25 a. m. Thursday in a traffic mishap at the Hargus creek bridge on Route 22, in the east end of the city. Officers said O'Neal fell asleep and the truck struck the bridge. The truck was badly damaged, officers said, but the damage to the bridge was slight. Mr. O'Neal escaped injury.

OHIO WETS GAIN IN MANY LOCAL OPTION FIGHTS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(UP)—Wets had a slight edge on the dries in local option voting in Ohio, according to incomplete returns from all sections of the state available today.

Returns from the 150 communities where the wet-dry issue was fought out Tuesday showed that 39 had voted wet, 35 dry and one tied. The tie was in Crooksville, Perry county, on a proposal to return C and D permits, which means that the town stays dry.

In Summit county the wets won four fights, the dries three. In Mahoning, the dry forces were victorious in 10 communities, the wets in six.

In Logan county, the dries made a clean sweep in six communities while they won two out of nine contests in Fayette county.

LaGUARDIA INVITES NATION'S LIBERALS

Mayor of New York Calls LaFollette, Norris and Murphy to Join in Conference of Progressives

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(UP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia today invited all liberal leaders to meet with him in Washington next week to solidify their forces in the face of losses in Tuesday's election.

He asked particularly Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin; Sen. George W. Norris, Nebraska, and Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan who was defeated for reelection.

"As I analyze the results of the election, I believe one must be realistic about it and admit that the progressive forces in several states seemingly have been disintegrated," he said.

"Eliminating New Jersey, where I do not think the question of progressivism enters at all, I am willing to admit that there has been a decided setback.

"You have a situation of supporters of progressive, humane, economic welfare legislation being opposed by the old line parties; you have candidates in the Democratic party who are not sympathetic with progressive legislation, and you have progressive candidates in the Republican party who do not agree with the control and management of the party, and the result is an increased strength to the forces of reaction.

HAMILTON SAYS G. O. P. HAS BIG JOB IN COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(UP)—Chairman John D. Hamilton of the Republican national committee said today the election results placed a great responsibility on the Republican party.

"There was nothing local or sectional about these Republican victories," he said. "They stretched from the New England states, now solidly Republican for the first time in eight years, out to Oregon. They occurred in both industrial and agricultural areas. They represent a national trend in sentiment.

"These Republican gains reflected a determination on the part of millions of our citizens to put an end to constant experimental legislation which has held back economic recovery and kept the country in a hub-bub.

"Reflected also in the returns was a widespread repugnance toward governmental incompetence, maladministration and callous political corruption.

"The American people have placed a great responsibility on the Republican party."

NOTED JAPANESE TAKES OWN LIFE IN MANCHUKUO

TOKYO, Nov. 10—(UP)—The Domei news agency reported from Dairen that Maj. Gen. Tanehide Furujo, managing editor of the Manchuria Daily News, committed suicide today.

He was high in the councils of the army and an outstanding figure in Japanese journalism.

Gen. Furujo was 55. He took part in the Russo-Japanese war and was liaison officer with the British troops in the Tsinjiao campaign. He was attached to army headquarters of the Siberian expeditions during the World war, in charge of the press and publicity bureau. He was a member of the Japanese delegation to the Washington naval conference of 1922.

Gen. Furujo was chief of section at the war office during and after the Manchurian "incident" which led to the creation of Manchukuo.

He was decorated with the Military Cross and order of the British Empire in recognition of his liaison services during the World War.

Government Continues to Put Blame for Deadlock on Federal Offices

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(UP)—Governor Martin L. Davey today ordered State Finance Director M. Ray Allison to borrow from the general revenue fund to pay old age pensions, due since Oct. 25.

The order necessitates transfer of about $1,000,000. The transfer would make possible immediate mailing of checks to 112,000 pensioners. The checks were written last week by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Gov. Davey again criticized the federal Social Security board for withholding federal pension funds from Ohio. The federal government has been paying 50 percent of the pensions.

"The Social Security board has no defense for its cruel and arbitrary action in withholding federal money, which was first threatened in the spirit of dirty politics and then continued on the basis of political consideration," the governor said.

The board had made 12 demands for changes in administration of

Ruler; Who Modernized Turkey, Defied World, Dies at 58 in Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 10—(UP)—Kemal Ataturk, 58, father of the Turkish republic and its president since its inauguration in 1923, died today.

The government, which had feared that he could not recover after a relapse suffered yesterday, at once proclaimed Abdul Halik Renda, president of the national assembly, provisional president in accordance with the constitution.

It was announced that the national assembly would elect a new president as provided by the constitution, to succeed Ataturk, whose fourth term would have expired March 1, 1939.

All social and public functions were canceled in mourning for Ataturk.

Among the first of the modern dictators, he had ruled Turkey since shortly after the World War. He raised it from an oriental despotism to a respected modern republic.

In his personal life he had defied all the rules. He drank, he gambled, he reveled.

Four months ago, his years of hard work for many hours each day followed by strenuous relaxation, caused his constitution to fail. He suffered a liver attack that had kept him intermittently bed ridden since.

He died at 2:05 a. m. EST.

Police on Hand

Police and troops were ready to suppress and outbreaks.

Long before Adolf Hitler was known except as an object of derision, Ghazi Mustapha Kemal Pasha, as he was called then, was tearing up the World War treaties.

Turkey was a loser in the war, though Kemal himself by his brilliant strategy and tactics had stopped the allies at Dardanelles.

Kemal and the men around him decided that the sultan must go. He led the school that demanded unqualified rejection of the World War treaties, and war against the allied world if necessary. He hurled into the sea a Greek army which invaded Anatolia with allied approval and in 1923, throwing out the sultan, he became the first president of the infant Turkish republic.

His firmness and his genius in reorganizing his country, Kemal defeated every effort to penalize Turkey for its participation in the World War.

He made friends with the nations whose friendship would be valuable to Turkey. He reorganized the army, the government, the national culture.

Thousands Jailed; American Arrested for Taking Photographs

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 10. (UP)—All foreign Jews have been ordered to leave the country within 24 hours, it was said on reliable authority today. Officials refused to confirm the report.

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(UP)—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, has ordered anti-Jewish demonstrations in Germany to cease, it was announced officially today.

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(UP)—Nazi authorities began rounding up Jews throughout Germany and Austria today after a night of terror during which mobs roamed the streets of cities and towns, wrecking Jewish shops and setting fire to Jewish synagogues, in vengeance for the fatal shooting of a German embassy secretary at Paris by a 17 year old Jew.

An official news agency dispatch announced that anti-Jewish outbreaks occurred in countless towns and that synagogues were fired in most towns.

A canvass by the United Press in mid-afternoon of various provincial cities throughout the Reich, such as Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne, Munich and Breslau brought a uniform story.

It was one of the burning of synagogues, destruction of shop windows, store equipment and goods; of violent outbursts against anyone in the crowds who sympathized with the Jews, and of police apathy. The crowds were allowed to wreak their vengeance unchecked.

For Own Protection

As regards the arrests, the official news agency explained that owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody "for their own protection."

STATE'S REPORT OF PICKAWAY'S OFFICES ON FILE

Report of the examination of Pickaway county offices for the period between Nov. 1, 1936 and Feb. 28, 1938, made by Henry C. Belt, examiner, and his assistant, Howard A. Parrish, was announced Thursday by Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor.

Findings for recovery in all offices examined totalled $8074.07, of which $4,840.68 has been paid or adjusted, leaving the amount unpaid $3,233.39.

The examination included the boards of election, education, health and visitors, children's home, clerk of courts, coroner, county commissioners, county home, courts of probate, Common Pleas and Appeals, engineer, Memorial Hall, prosecuting attorney, recorder, sheriff, Soldiers' Relief Commission, auditor and treasurer. The detailed report covered 105 pages.

"We are pleased to acknowledge the fine courteous cooperation of the officials and their assistants during the progress of our examination, and we are pleased to report that most of the officials of their county appreciate and value the cooperation of the bureau with them for better public service," the examination states.

MESS ENGER, 28, ROBBED OF BIG MOTOR PAYROLL

GREENFIELD, Ind., Nov. 10—(UP)—State and county police investigated today the reported theft of $60,000 from a bank messenger for the Citizens' state bank at Newcastle, Ind. The messenger, Byron Garner, 28, said he had been held up late yesterday by two men masquerading as state highway policemen.

He said he had obtained the money at Indianapolis and was driving back to New Castle at the time of the holdup. He reported that he had heard a siren on an automobile behind him and had pulled to the side of the road and stopped.

The other automobile drew alongside and two men got out. Both were dressed in the uniforms of state policemen and one held a sawed-off shotgun, he said. They took a satchel containing the money, handcuffed him to the steering wheel, disabled the motor of his machine and drove off.

John Roberts, a Greenfield insurance salesman, noticed Garner handcuffed to the wheel and summoned police.

The money, which was to have been delivered to the Chrysler Motor company for its weekly payroll, was first reported to have amounted to $30,000. Virgil Reed, assistant cashier of the Citizens bank, said last night that the money totaled $60,000.

"I thought the robbers were state policemen," Garner said, "or I wouldn't have stopped. I could see their uniforms in my rear vision mirror."

He said he had not obtained a complete description of the men.

Official Count Shows that 10,545 Voted

Total of 10,545 persons voted in Tuesday's elections, exceeding pre-election predictions by about 1,000.

Predictions on Monday were that about 9,500 to 10,000 persons would vote. This was believed to be an average vote as there were only three contests in the county and the greatest interest seemed centered on the governor and senator race.

Official tabulation of Tuesday's election in Pickaway county was completed Wednesday night by the Board of Elections and Mr. Lawrence Johnson.

The official listings showed slight changes in the unofficial tabulations.

Gen. Furujio was chief of section at the war office during and after the Manchurian "incident" which led to the creation of Manchukuo.

He was decorated with the Military Cross and order of the British Empire in recognition of his liaison services during the World War.

Ruler; Who Modernized Turkey, Defied World, Dies at 58 in Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 10—(UP)—Kemal Ataturk, 58, father of the Turkish republic and its president since its inauguration in 1923, died today.

The government, which had feared that he could not recover after a relapse suffered yesterday, at once proclaimed Abdul Halik Renda, president of the national assembly, provisional president in accordance with the constitution.

It was announced that the national assembly would elect a new president as provided by the constitution, to succeed Ataturk, whose fourth term would have expired March 1, 1939.

All social and public functions were canceled in mourning for Ataturk.

Among the first of the modern dictators, he had ruled Turkey since shortly after the World War. He raised it from an oriental despotism to a respected modern republic.

In his personal life he had defied all the rules. He drank, he gambled, he reveled.

Four months ago, his years of hard work for many hours each day followed by strenuous relaxation, caused his constitution to fail. He suffered a liver attack that had kept him intermittently bed ridden since.

He died at 2:05 a. m. EST.

Police on Hand

Police and troops were ready to suppress and outbreaks.

Long before Adolf Hitler was known except as an object of derision, Ghazi Mustapha Kemal Pasha, as he was called then, was tearing up the World War treaties.

Turkey was a loser in the war, though Kemal himself by his brilliant strategy and tactics had stopped the allies at Dardanelles.

Kemal and the men around him decided that the sultan must go. He led the school that demanded unqualified rejection of the World War treaties, and war against the allied world if necessary. He hurled into the sea a Greek army which invaded Anatolia with allied approval and in 1923, throwing out the sultan, he became the first president of the infant Turkish republic.

His firmness and his genius in reorganizing his country, Kemal defeated every effort to penalize Turkey for its participation in the World War.

He made friends with the nations whose friendship would be valuable to Turkey. He reorganized the army, the government, the national culture.

ROTARIANS ENJOY MUSIC BY MRS. VAN VLIET, PUPILS

Rotarians enjoyed a splendid musical program Thursday at their luncheon meeting. It was furnished by Mrs. Leon Van Vliet, W. High street, and some of her pupils.

The program was opened with duets "Valse," and "Feathered Songsters," played by Mrs. Van Vliet and Miss Eleanor Dreisbach. Miss Wanda Seymour presented as a solo "Madrilina," by Wachs. "Sleighride," by Walter, was given as a duet by Mrs. Van Vliet and Jimmy Hill. Other duets played by Mrs. Van Vliet and Miss Dreisbach included "Good Night," by Bendel, and "Rhapsody," arranged from the Second Hungarian Rhapsody, by Liszt. The program was concluded with a solo "America Grand Triumphant March," by Miss Dreisbach.

MESS ENGER, 28, ROBBED OF BIG MOTOR PAYROLL

GREENFIELD, Ind., Nov. 10—(UP)—State and county police investigated today the reported theft of $60,000 from a bank messenger for the Citizens' state bank at Newcastle, Ind. The messenger, Byron Garner, 28, said he had been held up late yesterday by two men masquerading as state highway policemen.

He said he had obtained the money at Indianapolis and was driving back to New Castle at the time of the holdup. He reported that he had heard a siren on an automobile behind him and had pulled to the side of the road and stopped.

The other automobile drew alongside and two men got out. Both were dressed in the uniforms of state policemen and one held a sawed-off shotgun, he said. They took a satchel containing the money, handcuffed him to the steering wheel, disabled the motor of his machine and drove off.

John Roberts, a Greenfield insurance salesman, noticed Garner handcuffed to the wheel and summoned police.

The money, which was to have been delivered to the Chrysler Motor company for its weekly payroll, was first reported to have amounted to $30,000. Virgil Reed, assistant cashier of the Citizens bank, said last night that the money totaled $60,000.

"I thought the robbers were state policemen," Garner said, "or I wouldn't have stopped. I could see their uniforms in my rear vision mirror."

He said he had not obtained a complete description of the men.

Thousands Jailed; American Arrested for Taking Photographs

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 10. (UP)—All foreign Jews have been ordered to leave the country within 24 hours, it was said on reliable authority today. Officials refused to confirm the report.

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(UP)—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, has ordered anti-Jewish demonstrations in Germany to cease, it was announced officially today.

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(UP)—Nazi authorities began rounding up Jews throughout Germany and Austria today after a night of terror during which mobs roamed the streets of cities and towns, wrecking Jewish shops and setting fire to Jewish synagogues, in vengeance for the fatal shooting of a German embassy secretary at Paris by a 17 year old Jew.

An official news agency dispatch announced that anti-Jewish outbreaks occurred in countless towns and that synagogues were fired in most towns.

A canvass by the United Press in mid-afternoon of various provincial cities throughout the Reich, such as Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne, Munich and Breslau brought a uniform story.

It was one of the burning of synagogues, destruction of shop windows, store equipment and goods; of violent outbursts against anyone in the crowds who sympathized with the Jews, and of police apathy. The crowds were allowed to wreak their vengeance unchecked.

For Own Protection

As regards the arrests, the official news agency explained that owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody "for their own protection."

STATE'S REPORT OF PICKAWAY'S OFFICES ON FILE

Report of the examination of Pickaway county offices for the period between Nov. 1, 1936 and Feb. 28, 1938, made by Henry C. Belt, examiner, and his assistant, Howard A. Parrish, was announced Thursday by Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor.

Findings for recovery in all offices examined totaled $8074.07, of which $4,840.68 has been paid or adjusted, leaving the amount unpaid $3,233.39.

The examination included the boards of election, education, health and visitors, children's home, clerk of courts, coroner, county commissioners, county home, courts of probate, Common Pleas and Appeals, engineer, Memorial Hall, prosecuting attorney, recorder, sheriff, Soldiers' Relief Commission, auditor and treasurer. The detailed report covered 105 pages.

"We are pleased to acknowledge the fine courteous cooperation of the officials and their assistants during the progress of our examination, and we are pleased to report that most of the officials of their county appreciate and value the cooperation of the bureau with them for better public service," the examination states.

Official Count Shows that 10,545 Voted

Total of 10,545 persons voted in Tuesday's elections, exceeding pre-election predictions by about 1,000.

Predictions on Monday were that about 9,500 to 10,000 persons would vote. This was believed to be an average vote as there were only three contests in the county and the greatest interest seemed centered on the governor and senator race.

Official tabulation of Tuesday's election in Pickaway county was completed Wednesday night by the Board of Elections and Mr. Lawrence Johnson.

The official listings showed slight changes in the unofficial tabulations.

Following are the official tabulations:

FERGUSON LONE DEM IN STATE HOUSE ON JAN. 1

"Little Joe" Has Important Role; Expected to Handle
All Federal Tasks

TO BE CONTACT MAN

Much Patronage to Rest
On Shoulder of Former Lancaster Resident

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—Now that election is over State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, "Little Joe," stands alone in what will be after January 1, a Republican State House.

And thereby he becomes probably the most powerful political figure in Ohio.

Already the head of one of the largest patronage-dispensing departments of state government, Ferguson now is the last Democratic link between Ohio and the federal administration. He was seen by state politicians today as the probable contact man, after Senator Vic Donahey, with Washington.

Auditor Ferguson former resident of Lancaster, and now a resident of Barborton, politically, and Columbus actually, lost no time in denning his new mantle of authority. He had today taken over the distribution of the New Deal surplus commodities, and had moved into the pension and relief situations as the probable dispenser of the money.

Auditor Ferguson will be the only Democrat in elective position under the new administration but is in position to dictate the course of events. In his department are all the examiners who have charge of inspection and supervision of public offices throughout the state. His department controls through relief investigators all pension and relief activities.

Ferguson was elected to the Right across the fence is another golf course where you pay $5.00 a month and carry your own bags. The rich men play silently with scowls on their faces and it's easy to see that the boys across the fence are havin' all the fun.

I think Grandpa Snazzy hit the nail on the head when he said, "A rich man has'ta hire a secretary, a butler, a laundress, a manager and a cook. A poor man jest gits married!"

Mrs. C. B. Teegardin and Sons, shorthorn cattle breeders and exhibitors for these many years, have made entries of 22 head of their stock for the approaching fat stock show at Chicago to be held Nov. 26 to Dec. 3. These breeders ship their stock the world around wherever cattle is raised.

The high school basketball teams, boys and girls, of Darby township, will be here Friday evening as the season opens. Just how good our teams are to be this season is yet to be found out but especially the boys are slated to give a good account of themselves before the season ends.

The village council at its session Monday evening transacted no business except to pay current bills. The electric people who operate here are asking of Council a long time franchise. No action has yet been taken. The local officials will be in no hurry in making a grant of any kind until they have had time to learn what action they should take in the mat-auditorship in the 1936 landslide after previously having run unsuccessfully for both auditor and state treasurer. He replaced Joseph T. Tracy, who had held the job for 16 years, ever since Senator Donahey left it to run for governor.

GILLETTE GAINS AN EDGE OVER IOWA G. O. P. FOE

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10—(UP)—Senator Guy M. Gillette, D., appeared to have won re-election over former Senator Lester Dickinson, R., on the basis of complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election.

It had appeared Dickinson would win until nearly the end of counting. Gillette defeated him by only 1,261 votes, according to the unofficial count. Dickinson was expected to ask a recount.

Unofficial returns from all of Iowa's 2,447 precincts gave Gillette 410,717 and Dickinson 409,456.

Virtually all the rest of the Iowa Democratic ticket was defeated in a G. O. P. landslide, the first time since 1930 that the state had voted Republican.

George A. Wilson, R., defeated Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel in the gubernatorial race by a plurality of more than 55,000 votes.

Republicans won seven of the state's congressional seats, the Democrats two.

der. Even a new judge of the local supreme court is to be elected and John Sark, Doc Gardner and Arthur Coon have already announced themselves as candidates for the high honor.

Doctor Chester Rockey president of the local school board, said the board transacted no business at its meeting Tuesday evening except to pay current bills. Said the architects' work for the two-room addition to the present school building, is being put into shape as fast as possible and in the not far distant future advertising for bids for the work will be in order.

The local Ashville Banking people have had workmen here this week putting into place a number of safety deposit boxes, they purchased some time ago. And with that big door already in action, the management feels it has made improvements worthwhile, both for convenience and safety. Both local banks will be closed Friday, Armistice Day.

CROSBY HAS DRUMMER

It isn't very often that a drummer is a guest star on a radio show but Bing Crosby, whose sympathies are all with the drummers because he used to be one himself, presents the "tops" in that division in the Music Hall, Thursday. He is Gene Krupa, best known of the "swing" drummers. Other guests in the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. are Brian Aherne and Anne Sheridan, of the screen, and Mafalda Favero, soprano of the San Francisco Opera.

RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Lauritz Melchior, noted Metropolitan Opera tenor, accompanied by Dr. Frank Black's symphony orchestra, headline the "Magic Key" hour program over the NBC-Blue network Sunday at 2 p. m. Continuing as guest master of ceremonies will be witty Clifton Fadiman, whose regular program is "Information, Please," quiz show.

Ben Bernie, ye olde maestro, varies his popular tunes on his program Sunday over CBS to bring dialers new and old favorites at 5:30 p. m. Musical numbers include "What Goes On Here In My Heart?" "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" and "Siboney." The supporting Bernie cast includes Lew Lehr, dialect comedian, Col. Manny Prager, novelty singer and instrumentalist, and vocalists Mary Small and Bob Gibson.

In Sunday's Jack Benny program over the NBC-Red network at 7 p. m., we find Rochester, his valet, picketing the jester as being unfair to his brother, September, whom Benny refuses to employ because September has no part in his November plans. There will be another sequence in which Benny and his orchestra leader, Phil Harris, argue about Phil's girl, Mary Livingstone, Kenny Baker, and Don Wilson will also be on hand. If you hear any gravel-crunching that will be the voice of Andy Devine.

SABLON SINGS

The most loyal fan club was discovered when CBS received a letter from France yesterday with five hundred signatures, requesting Jean Sablon to sing, "I've Got a Date with a Dream." Jean will oblige, this Friday evening on Hollywood Hotel, but the French fan club has uncovered this unusual fact: the members, in order to hear their favorite every week, meet at the home of the secretary of the club and listen in, on short wave, at four a. m. Saturday morning in order to catch Jean's Friday evening broadcast.

Sablon says that such loyalty is not unusual in France, where such favorites as Mlle. Mistinguette, Cecil Sorel and others have held the unwavering adoration of the French audiences for forty and fifty years—and are still favorites even though they are both over sixty!

PLANES FROM AMERICA

Aircraft Plants Flooded
With Orders for
Military Ships

24-HOUR BASIS NEEDED

British Ministry Places
Record Demands for Supplies

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—World-wide rearmament programs have pushed the sales of American aircraft manufacturers to record heights. Today, with major nations frantically adding to their air forces as an aftermath of the Munich Four-Power agreement, leading plane factories are working on a 24-hour basis, and backlogs of unfilled orders are at unprecedented levels.

Sales of military plans to the army and navy constitute the principal source of orders in the industry, but the governments of Great Britain, Holland, France, Yugoslavia, Brazil, Guatemala and other European and South American countries are increasingly turning to American manufacturers to fill the demand that cannot be met by their own companies. United States aircraft production last year was valued at $56,260,105. Of that total, $37,071,160, or 66 percent represented planes for military use. Exports of planes, engines and parts totaled $39,128,602.

Record Year Assured
Both production and exports will establish new records this year, and leaders in the industry confidently predict further gains in 1939. They admit that armament programs are primarily responsible for the boom, although sales of transport planes are also rising steadily, if less spectacularly.

Approximately 40,000 men are employed in American aircraft factories, of which the largest are located in California. Four major aircraft corporations operating in or near Los Angeles reported late in October that, as a result of huge orders from Great Britain, Canada, Yugoslavia, Rumania, the Netherlands, Australia and Japan, their combined backlogs had reached an all-time peak of more than $70,000,000.

The British air ministry has placed some of the largest orders recently received by American companies. The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of California on Oct. 10 signed a contract with the British government for the largest spare parts order ever received by the concern. This contract, calling for $3,900,000 of extra equipment, complements the order received last June from the British air ministry for 200 reconnaissance bombers costing approximately $18,000,000.

Large Netherlands Order
Orders to be filled by this company before the end of 1939, in addition to that from the British air ministry, include a fleet of 13 twin-engine personnel transports for the army air corps, a $690,000 order for the Netherlands East Indian government, and orders from the U. S. navy, Aeropout Airlines of Yugoslavia and British Airways, Ltd.

The Ryan Aeronautical Company of California has been more active in the Central American market. On Oct. 18 the company announced the signing of a contract with Guatemala for six S-T-M military training planes. A similar number of S-T-M planes will be delivered to the Guatemalan air force three months earlier.

Mass Production Near
Leading aircraft manufacturers are making plans for switching to mass-production methods to speed up output for the army, whose immediate plans include increasing the air force to 4,120 planes. The army now has approximately 1,500 first-line planes, with an additional 1,000 under construction. The government is reportedly considering standardization processes to facilitate mass production.

North American Aviation, Inc., which is strictly a military concern, is manufacturing two basic combat ships a day to fulfill heavy war department requirements. This marked a new record in production since the World War.

St. Mary's college in California has a student enrollment of less than 500—but its stadium will seat 65,000.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor:

A number of years ago an exasperated college president expostulated that he had about lost faith in the English Language as an instrument for the expression of human thought. Me too!

I placed an ad in your paper the other night only to find that some people were getting an impression exactly the opposite of what the words said. Will you please print this explanation?

We do not have any agents soliciting Kodak enlargements or copying business. When work of this kind is desired it should be taken directly to a competent, reliable professional photographer, and not entrusted to any agent or solicitor. Many people lose both pictures and money by dealing with smooth-tongued strangers.

On the other hand we now have in progress a special advertising campaign offering the widely known Ma-Del Portrait at $1.00. This is a $5.00 value obtainable through coupons that are being sold by agents. These coupons bear our name and will be honored at our studio according to the terms printed thereon.

Now if this fails to convey the meaning, I am going to suggest that you deliver a dictionary and a grammar with each paper.

BABY, 2, KILLED AS BLAST RUINS HOME IN SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The charred body of a two-year old baby was taken early today from the ruins of two buildings destroyed by an explosion which shook a 20 square block section. Police did not believe there had been other deaths, though the search of the ruins continued.

The explosion last night was caused by a gas leak which apparently filled the two-story frame home of M. Sacco with fumes before it was set off. It and the building adjoining were immediately engulfed in flames and both were destroyed, though firemen prevented the fire from spreading. Sacco, his wife, and their four children were not at home. The Legeaux family occupied the house next door. Elmo Legeaux, the baby, was burned to death. His sister, Olympe, 19, and a friend, Frank Petit, 19, were injured, but the rest of the family escaped unharm.

The concussion from the explosion was so severe that persons living five blocks away said they had been thrown out of bed.

Begging Bears To Increase
YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK—(UP)—Park officials are promising tourists to have all roads lined with more begging bear cubs next year than this. The reason is that mother bears usually have cubs only once every two years. This year is an "off" season while next year will be a breeding one.

PLANES FROM AMERICA

Aircraft Plants Flooded
With Orders for
Military Ships

24-HOUR BASIS NEEDED

British Ministry Places
Record Demands for
Supplies

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—World-wide rearmament programs have pushed the sales of American aircraft manufacturers to record heights. Today, with major nations frantically adding to their air forces as an aftermath of the Munich Four-Power agreement, leading plane factories are working on a 24-hour basis, and backlogs of unfilled orders are at unprecedented levels.

Sales of military planes to the army and navy constitute the principal source of orders in the industry, but the governments of Great Britain, Holland, France, Yugoslavia, Brazil, Guatemala and other European and South American countries are increasingly turning to American manufacturers to fill the demand that cannot be met by their own companies.

United States aircraft production last year was valued at $56,260,105. Of that total, $37,071,160, or 66 percent represented planes for military use. Exports of planes, engines and parts totaled $39,128,602.

Record Year Assured
Both production and exports will establish new records this year, and leaders in the industry confidently predict further gains in 1939. They admit that armament programs are primarily responsible for the boom, although sales of transport planes are also rising steadily, if less spectacularly.

Approximately 40,000 men are employed in American aircraft factories, of which the largest are located in California. Four major aircraft corporations operating in or near Los Angeles reported late in October that, as a result of new orders from Great Britain, Canada, Yugoslavia, Rumania, the Netherlands, Australia and Japan, their combined backlogs had reached an all-time peak of more than $70,000,000.

The British air ministry has placed some of the largest orders recently received by American companies. The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of California on Oct. 10 signed a contract with the British government for the largest spare parts order ever received by the concern. This contract, calling for $3,900,000 of extra equipment, complements the order received last June from the British air ministry for 200 reconnaissance bombers costing approximately $18,000,000.

Large Netherlands Order
Orders to be filled by this company before the end of 1939, in addition to that from the British air ministry, include a fleet of 13 twin-engine personnel transports for the army air corps, a $690,000 order for the Netherlands East Indian government, and orders from the U. S. navy, Aeropout Airlines of Yugoslavia and British Airways, Ltd.

The Ryan Aeronautical Company of California has been more active in the Central American market. On Oct. 18 the company announced the signing of a contract with Guatemala for six S-T-M military training planes. A similar number of S-T-M planes will be delivered to the Guatemalan air force three months earlier.

Mass Production Near
Leading aircraft manufacturers are making plans for switching to mass-production methods to speed up output for the army, whose immediate plans include increasing the air force to 4,120 planes. The army now has approximately 1,500 first-line planes, with an additional 1,000 under construction. The government is reportedly considering standardization processes to facilitate mass production.

North American Aviation, Inc., which is strictly a military concern, is manufacturing two basic combat ships a day to fulfill heavy war department requirements. This marked a new record in production since the World War.

St. Mary's college in California has a student enrollment of less than 500—but its stadium will seat 65,000.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor:

A number of years ago an exasperated college president expostulated that he had about lost faith in the English Language as an instrument for the expression of human thought. Me too!

I placed an ad in your paper the other night only to find that some people were getting an impression exactly the opposite of what the words said. Will you please print this explanation?

We do not have any agents soliciting Kodak enlargements or copying business. When work of this kind is desired it should be taken directly to a competent, reliable professional photographer, and not entrusted to any agent or solicitor. Many people lose both pictures and money by dealing with smooth-tongued strangers.

On the other hand we now have in progress a special advertising campaign offering the widely known Ma-Del Portrait at $1.00. This is a $5.00 value obtainable through coupons that are being sold by agents. These coupons bear our name and will be honored at our studio according to the terms printed thereon.

Now if this fails to convey the meaning, I am going to suggest that you deliver a dictionary and a grammar with each paper.

BABY, 2, KILLED AS BLAST RUINS HOME IN SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The charred body of a two year old baby was taken early today from the ruins of two buildings destroyed by an explosion which shook a 20 square block section. Police did not believe there had been other deaths, though the search of the ruins continued.

The explosion last night was caused by a gas leak which apparently filled the two story frame home of M. Sacco with fumes before it was set off. It and the building adjoining were immediately veiled in flames and both were destroyed, though firemen prevented the fire from spreading.

Sacco, his wife, and their four children were not at home. The Legeaux family occupied the house next door. Elmo Legeaux, the baby, was burned to death. His sister, Olympe, 19, and a friend, Frank Petit, 19, were injured, but the rest of the family escaped unharm.

The concussion from the explosion was so severe that persons living five blocks away said they had been thrown out of bed.

STEEL UPTURN GOES STEADILY AHEAD IN OHIO

Production In Cleveland At 72 Percent And In Youngstown At 61

ALL TO MOVE HIGHER

Various Cities In State Visited To Determine General Climb

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Men are making steel again in northern Ohio's "Little Ruhr," and the red smoke from a thousand mill stacks is forming a silver lining in what many believe is a national recovery picture.

The steel production rate in this city "where coal and ore meet"—has reached 72 percent of capacity, the highest in more than a year, and the rate at Youngstown, industrial capital of the bustling Mahoning valley, has pushed up steadily to the 61 percent mark, and is expected to go higher.

Production increases in turn have resulted in greater employment. The National Labor Relations Board ruling ordering rehiring of 5,000 Republic Steel corporation workers who were in the C.I.O. Steel Workers' Organizing committee strike against "little steel" in 1937 alone has boosted employment in both Ohio's steel valleys—the Cuyahoga here and the Mahoning at Youngstown.

Gain Reaches 13 Points The gain here and in nearby Lorain, the largest city between Cleveland and Toledo, has been 13 points recently.

At downtown Canton, Republic Steel's operations in the coke division have been stepped up from 12 to 70 ovens and a blast furnace, rebuilt and enlarged a year ago has been relighted.

In Cleveland, Republic has begun pouring steel from its 11th active furnace, of 14 open-hearth furnaces in its Corrigan-McKinney division.

The Otis Steel company here has lighted two additional open hearths at its Riverside plant and a small one at the Lakeside plant on the Lake Erie front.

The company has in operation eight furnaces at its river plant now.

Republic has three of its four blast furnaces in the Corrigan-McKinney division busy now. Its pig-iron producer is dismantled for installation of a new hearth.

New Coke Plant Opened Recently, Republic started operation of a new coke plant in Youngstown.

The National Tube company at Lorain now has operating three blast furnaces. Ten open-hearth furnaces are operating there.

Otis has one in operation in Cleveland.

Demand for steel used in automobile production in Detroit has done much to stimulate the Ohio steel upturn.

Automobile parts industries in northern Ohio are increasing both production and employment almost daily.

Local scrap-iron prices reportedly have firmed recently. This action generally has been interpreted as reflecting a rise in steel operations.

E. J. Kulas, president of Otis Steel, said:

"The recent rise in automobile production has brought in substantial additional business and our company now is operating on a more satisfactory basis than at any time this year."

Questions and Answers

Can you tell me the caloric value of rice per pound? How much would this be per serving?

The nutritive value of all varieties and grades yields approximately the same caloric value of 1600 calories to the pound. We estimate 3 Tbsp. uncooked rice per serving and when cooked this amounts to 1 1/2 C. which yields 75 calories to each serving.

Do you have a recipe for a pie made with cranberries and raisins? What is this pie called?

The pie you are referring to is called Mock Cherry Pie. Here's how it's made:

- Mock Cherry Pie
- 1 C. seedless raisins.
  - 2 C. cranberries
  - 1 C. sugar
  - 1 Tbsp. cornstarch in 1/2 C. cold water
  - 1 C. water
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 1 Tbsp. shortening
- Pastry

Fit pastry into pie pan as usual. Add filling made by cooking the berries with water until the skins burst. Add raisins and sugar. Cook a few minutes longer. Stir in cornstarch mixed with cold water. Boil thoroughly and add salt and shortening.

After filling has been added, over the top arrange strips of pastry about 1/2-inch wide, criss-crossing them. Fasten the ends of the strips to the bottom crust by moistening them with water. Build up the pastry rim with an extra strip of pastry. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) until crust is nicely browned.

Have you ever served molasses whipped cream on gingerbread? How is it made?

Molasses Whipped Cream is delicious served on either hot or cold gingerbread. Make it like this:

- Molasses Whipped Cream
- 1 C. whipped cream
  - 3 Tbsp. molasses

Whip the cream until stiff and fold in the molasses. Serve on gingerbread which has been cut into squares.

Please tell me how to prepare Prune Tapioca Cream? Are the prunes cooked before adding them to the tapioca mixture? I would like the recipe which calls for pear tapioca as I prefer using this kind.

- Prune Tapioca Cream
- 1/2 C. sugar
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 1 C. pear tapioca
  - 2 eggs, separated
  - 4 C. scalded milk
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
  - 1 C. steamed, dried prunes, finely chopped

Soak tapioca in cold water 1 hour; cook until clear. Combine sugar, salt, tapioca, egg yolks; gradually stir in 1 C. hot milk, then add to remaining milk and cook over hot water 5 to 8 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; fold small amount into stiffly beaten egg whites; return to remaining hot mixture and fold in gently. Cool slightly, add vanilla, and prunes. Turn into serving dish and chill.

When a recipe says to "cut and fold" a mixture what does it mean? "Cut and fold" means to combine ingredients by cutting vertically down through the mixture with spoon or whip, then turning it across bottom of bowl and bring it up vertically—a sort of rolling-down-up-over motion.

STEEL UPTURN GOES STEADILY AHEAD IN OHIO

Production In Cleveland At 72 Percent And In Youngstown At 61

ALL TO MOVE HIGHER

Various Cities In State Visited To Determine General Clim

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Men are making steel again in northern Ohio's "Little Ruhr," and the red smoke from a thousand mill stacks is forming a silver lining in what many believe is a national recovery picture.

The steel production rate in this city "where coal and ore meet"—has reached 72 percent of capacity, the highest in more than a year, and the rate at Youngstown, industrial capital of the bustling Mahoning valley, has pushed up steadily to the 61 percent mark, and is expected to go higher.

Production increases in turn have resulted in greater employment. The National Labor Relations Board ruling ordering rehiring of 5,000 Republic Steel corporation workers who were in the C.I.O. Steel Workers' Organizing committee strike against "little steel" in 1937 alone has boosted employment in both Ohio's steel valleys—the Cuyahoga here and the Mahoning at Youngstown.

Gain Reaches 13 Points
The gain here and in nearby Lorain, the largest city between Cleveland and Toledo, has been 13 points recently.

At downstate Canton, Republic Steel's operations in the coke division have been stepped up from 12 to 70 ovens and a blast furnace, rebuilt and enlarged a year ago has been relighted.

In Cleveland, Republic has begun pouring steel from its 11th active furnace of 14 open-hearth furnaces in its Corrigan-McKinney division.

The Otis Steel company here has lighted two additional open hearths at its Riverside plant and a small one at the Lakeside plant on the Lake Erie front.

The company has in operation eight furnaces at its river plant now.

Republic has three of its four blast furnaces in the Corrigan-McKinney division busy now. Its pig-iron producer is dismantled for installation of a new hearth.

New Coke Plant Opened
Recently, Republic started operation of a new coke plant in Youngstown.

The National Tube company at Lorain now has operating three blast furnaces. Ten open-hearth furnaces are operating there.

Otis has one in operation at Cleveland.

Demand for steel used in automobile production in Detroit has done much to stimulate the Ohio steel upturn.

Automobile parts industries in northern Ohio are increasing both production and employment almost daily.

Local scrap-iron prices reportedly have firmed recently. This action generally has been interpreted as reflecting a rise in steel operations.

E. J. Kulas, president of Otis Steel, said:

"The recent rise in automobile production has brought in substantial additional business and our company now is operating on a more satisfactory basis than at any time this year."

Questions and Answers

Can you tell me the caloric value of rice per pound? How much would this be per serving?

The nutritive value of all varieties and grades yields approximately the same caloric value of 1600 calories to the pound. We estimate 3 Tbsp. uncooked rice per serving and when cooked this amounts to 1/2 C. which yields 75 calories to each serving.

Do you have a recipe for a pie made with cranberries and raisins? What is this pie called?

The pie you are referring to is called Mock Cherry Pie. Here's how it's made:

Mock Cherry Pie
1 C. seedless raisins.
2 C. cranberries.
1 C. sugar.
1 Tbsp. cornstarch in
1/2 C. cold water
1 C. water
1/4 tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. shortening
Pastry

Fit pastry into pie pan as usual. Add filling made by cooking the berries with water until the skins burst. Add raisins and sugar. Cook a few minutes longer. Stir in cornstarch mixed with cold water. Boil thoroughly and add salt and shortening.

After filling has been added, over the top arrange strips of pastry about 1/2-inch wide, criss-crossing them. Fasten the ends of the strips to the bottom crust by moistening with water. Build up the pastry rim with an extra strip of pastry. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) until crust is nicely browned.

Have you ever served molasses whipped cream on gingerbread? How is it made?

Molasses Whipped Cream is delicious served on either hot or cold gingerbread. Make it like this:

Molasses Whipped Cream
1 C. whipped cream
3 Tbsp. molasses
Whip the cream until stiff and fold in the molasses. Serve on gingerbread which has been cut into squares.

Please tell me how to prepare Prune Tapioca Cream? Are the prunes cooked before adding them to the tapioca mixture? I would like the recipe which calls for pearl tapioca as I prefer using this kind.

Prune Tapioca Cream
1/2 C. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 C. pearl tapioca
2 eggs, separated
1 C. scalded milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1 C. steamed, dried prunes, finely chopped
Soak tapioca in cold water 1 hour; cook until clear. Combine sugar, salt, tapioca, egg yolks; gradually stir in 1 C. hot milk, then add to remaining milk and cook over hot water 5 to 8 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; fold small amount into stiffly beaten egg whites; return to remaining hot mixture and fold in gently. Cool slightly, add vanilla, and prunes. Turn into serving dish and chill.

When a recipe says to "cut and fold" a mixture what does it mean? "Cut and fold" means to combine ingredients by cutting vertically down through the mixture with spoon or whip, then turning it across bottom of bowl and bring it up vertically—a sort of rolling-down-up-over motion.

Was Just As Tired in A.M. As When She Went to Bed

This young matron suffered from indigestion, gas in stomach, sourness, dizziness and was bilious, due to constipation. Declares Vendol made her feel like a new person.

According to the statement of Mrs. Audis Cochran, attractive young matron, Vendol relieved many troubles that have kept her feeling badly for some time. Read what she says and take her advice: "Vendol gave such a thorough cleansing and invigorating action that I feel like a different person from what I did a few weeks ago. I would get up in the morning feeling as tired as when I went to bed. My tongue was coated, had bad taste in my mouth, head ached and every time I stooped over I'd get dizzy and everything seemed to spin around. I suffered from sour stomach, gas, cramps and a full, heavy feeling after meals. I'm sure all of my troubles came from constipation, which annoyed me a long time. "I had tried various remedies without much success but one day I read about a woman here in town suffering as I did who said Vendol did her world of good, so I decided to try it. I'm happy I did, because it gave prompt relief from my constipation then all my troubles were relieved. I can

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopy, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think. What have you had to eat this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement. What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B, and iron. Eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your heels and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Bran is sold by every grocer.

GAMES TO TEST NAVY'S NEWEST CRUISER CLASS

Five Of Brooklyn Type To Join Atlantic Squadron

NEW STEAMERS HEAVIER

All Capable Of Carrying Eight Airplanes; Each Costs $12,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(UP)—The United States answer to Japan's bid for supremacy in the light cruiser class will go on display en masse when the navy holds its 1939 maneuvers off the Atlantic coast.

Five of the 11 cruisers of the Brooklyn class will join the fleet for the first time in fleet problems to be held from January to sometime late in April. The other six vessels are still under construction.

According to reliable sources, the Brooklyn class possesses several unique features for ships of this category and was designed to rival the Mogami class of Japanese cruisers.

The Brooklyns are somewhat heavier than the Nipponese vessels, totaling 10,000 tons each to the Mogamis' 8,500 tons, but in virtually all other important respects the warships are similar.

Main Batteries Equal

The heavier ordinance is almost identical, both in caliber and number. Both have 15 guns for their main batteries. They are six-inch rifles on the Brooklyns, while the Mogamis have a fractionally heavier gun. Both are equipped with eight 5-inch rifles, and both carry four aircraft and two plane catapults.

The speed is practically identical, 33 knots for the Japanese cruisers and about half a knot less for the United States ships. The Mogamis have only 90,000 horsepower, compared with 100,000 horsepower for the Brooklyns, but this is counter-balanced by the Japanese vessels' smaller tonnage.

One unique feature of the Brooklyns is their aircraft arrangements. A hangar is built into the hull in the extreme rear of the vessel and a lift is provided to bring planes to the deck. On either side of the hangar are the catapults. Naval officials admit this is a revolutionary feature for cruisers. In all other vessels of this class the catapults were amidships.

Can Carry 8 Planes

Although the vessels' normal complement is four aircraft, provision is made for four additional planes on each ship. According to one authority, this places the Brooklyns, to some extent, in the category of aircraft carriers as well as cruisers.

Another striking feature of the Brooklyns is their extremely thick armor. It has been said in some quarters that the protection is sufficient to place these vessels in the armored cruiser class and it has ever been asserted that, with larger guns, they might come under the battle cruiser category.

The Mogami class consists of six vessels. Two of these were completed a year before they joined the fleet. Certain changes that were deemed necessary after the vessels had completed their trials caused the delay.

The U. S. cruisers cost about $12,000,000 each and have a normal complement of 868 officers and men. The cost and manpower of the Nipponese vessels has not been revealed.

Sane Feeding of Cattle Helps to Reduce Risks

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—Anyone who could always predict correctly what the future holds in store for Ohio cattle feeders would soon be trading in his prophet's robe toward a room-sized safe to hold his money, but L. P. McCann, animal husbandry specialist at Ohio State university, says a safe and sane feeding program always takes a lot of hazards out of cattle feeding.

There are ups and downs in the business of fattening beef cattle and the man who tries to outguess economic conditions and buys steers only when he thinks prospects are favorable, is quite likely to end up with empty feed lots and empty pockets. Men who stay with the feeding program year after year usually find steers a profitable market for grain and roughage.

Ohio has two types of livestock feeders, those who buy a few steers as sideline for their main business of farming and those who do some farming along with a lot of cattle feeding. Mr. McCann says the feeding program should vary to fit the conditions.

The man whose main interest is farming usually wants to sell his finished steers in late Winter or early Spring so the feeding will be out of the way of the regular farm work. Many of these men buy good quality and breeding and sell them as well-finished steers.

Mistake Cited
Mr. McCann believes it is a mistake for the short-term feeder to buy this class of cattle for the Spring market. The perfect feeder to market this class of cattle is not the one who buys and brings the best prices. Nine years out of ten choice cattle bring the number, with the increase showing first in hogs and fat cattle.

Finished cattle are expected to furnish a larger part of the total supply of beef slaughtered in 1939 than in the present year. General economic conditions are expected to improve with a consequent improvement in the consumer demand for meat. Some strengthening of the demand already has occurred in the past three months.

GAMES TO TEST NAVY'S NEWEST CRUISER CLASS

Five Of Brooklyn Type
To Join Atlantic
Squadron

NEW STEAMERS HEAVIER

All Capable Of Carrying
Eight Airplanes; Each
Costs $12,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The United States answer to Japan's bid for supremacy in the light cruiser class will go on display en masse when the navy holds its 1939 maneuvers off the Atlantic coast.

Five of the 11 cruisers of the Brooklyn class will join the fleet for the first time in fleet problems to be held from January to sometime late in April. The other six vessels are still under construction.

According to reliable sources, the Brooklyn class possesses several unique features for ships of this category and was designed to rival the Mogami class of Japanese cruisers.

The Brooklyns are somewhat heavier than the Nipponese vessels, totaling 10,000 tons each to the Mogami's 8,500 tons, but in virtually all other important respects the warships are similar. Main Batteries Equal

The heavier ordnance is almost identical, both in caliber and number. Both have 15 guns for their main batteries. They are six-inch rifles on the Brooklyns, while the Mogamis have a fractionally heavier gun. Both are equipped with eight 5-inch rifles, and both carry four aircraft and two plane catapults.

The speed is practically identical.

Sane Feeding of Cattle Helps to Reduce Risks

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—Anyone who could always predict correctly what the future holds in store for Ohio cattle feeders would soon be trading in his prophet's robe toward a room-sized safe to hold his money, but L. P. McCann, animal husbandry specialist at Ohio State university, says a safe and sane feeding program always takes a lot of hazards out of cattle feeding.

There are ups and downs in the business of fattening beef cattle and the man who tries to outguess economic conditions and buys steers only when he thinks prospects are favorable, is quite likely to end up with empty feed lots and empty pockets. Ohio has two types of livestock feeders, those who buy a few steers as sideline for their main business of farming and those who do some farming along with a lot of cattle feeding. Mr. McCann says the feeding program should vary to fit the conditions.

The man whose main interest is farming usually wants to sell his finished steers in late Winter or early Spring so the feeding will be out of the way of the regular farm work. Many of these men buy good quality and breeding and sell them as well-finished steers.

Mistake Cited
Mr. McCann believes it is a mistake for the short-term feeder to buy this class of cattle for the Spring market. The feeder is likely to market this class of cattle at the best prices. Nine years out of ten choice cattle bring the best price in late Summer or early Fall.

Plainer cattle that weigh from 500 to 700 pounds ordinarily are a better investment for the farmer who wants to finish his feeding in time to start Spring farm work. Such cattle can be bought comparatively low at the start of the feeding season and are likely to sell well in comparison with well-finished cattle in late Winter or early Spring.

The man who makes cattle feeding his chief farm enterprise stands a much better chance of profiting from the feeding of choice cattle. He can carry the cattle along and sell when this type of steers is bringing a better price.

Mr. McCann says the agricultural outlook recently issued by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics indicates that the number of grain-consuming livestock units on farms increased around 5 percent in 1938. Large supplies and low prices of feed grains are expected to encourage a further increase in livestock number, with the increase showing first in hogs and fat cattle.

Finished cattle are expected to furnish a larger part of the total supply of beef slaughtered in 1939 than in the present year. General economic conditions are expected to improve with a consequent improvement in the consumer demand for meat. Some strengthening of the demand already has occurred in the past three months.

"MILITARIST" DEMOCRACIES

"LET democracies understand this," said Hitler in his recent Weimar speech: "If they talk about rights of small peoples, they should not deny rights to big peoples. But history has shown that democracy in practice is different from democracy in theory. Democrats can conceive of one duty, namely, to uphold democracy, with resultant liberty to anybody to excite war. 'I cannot expect them to alter their constitutions,' he added 'but when one reads of Commoner Greenwood (of the British parliament) uttering the wish that Nazism and Fascism be crushed, and when one thinks of the possibility that his party some time may come into power, it is my duty to see that this Reich shall not be crushed.'"

The language is confused, as usual, but the idea is plain enough. Hitler is accusing the democracies of militarism. He brings this charge against Britain, which in its efforts to preserve peace has been making the greatest concessions it has made to any European power in a hundred years. He makes a similar charge against the United States, because our government, most pacific of all the big powers, is reluctantly rearming on account of the German, Italian and Japanese threats against this hemisphere.

If the Fascist powers once stop rattling the sword, piling up armament, attacking their neighbors and filling the air with threats, they will be surprised to see how soon and how gladly the democracies turn to peaceful activities and tolerance. When other nations let us alone, we don't care what kind of governments they have.

RAZZING A ROAD PEST

A MOTORIST can easily express his sentiments about some annoying driver ahead of him. A horn, inflexible and limited as it is, may speak eloquently to a dawdler and blast a passage through obstructing traffic. But it is a one-way device unless for troubles in the rear.

What can be done about the fellow behind who doesn't like the way you're driving, and honks at you to turn out for him when there's no room to turn out, or to speed up when you're caught in a procession and can't go any faster, or starts honking at a crossing before the light turns green?

For that fellow, there is a "tongue-sticker-outer" — which may or may not be the real name of it, but suffices for a description. A California man has invented a device in the shape of a mechanical clown's head, to be attached to the rear of a car. When you want to tell the honker-behind what you think of him, you just press a button and the clown sticks out his tongue at the offender. Whereupon the annoyance probably stops.

WPA TO DROP 1,150,000

WASHINGTON—For campaign reasons the plan has been kept shush-shush, but behind those guarded statements about holding down relief expenditures is a secret program to slash WPA rolls on a large scale.

The President's aim is to pare the rolls down to 2,000,000 by March 1. That means a decrease of more than 1,150,000 from the October 1 peak.

The pruning will not be a forced one like that in the spring of 1937, when hundreds of thousands were dropped in a period of a few weeks. This time the deflation will be gradual, accomplished by not filling the places of those who leave voluntarily or are dismissed.

This exodus is a great deal larger than is realized. It averages over 7 percent per month. In September the turnover was 228,000, or 7.6 percent, of which 173,000 quit to take private jobs and the remainder were let out for various reasons, mostly disciplinary. Figures on the October turnover are still incomplete, but it will be well over 250,000.

Under the recent plan, WPA estimates the relief load will be 2,750,000 on December 1; 2,500,000 by January 1; 2,250,000 by February 1; and 2,000,000 by March 1.

On this basis, barring another economic upset, a comparatively moderate deficiency appropriation of around $500,000,000 will be required to carry WPA through the remaining four months of the fiscal year. This is in line with Roosevelt's policy of gradually demobilizing WPA from a major New Deal spending agency to a secondary and chiefly auxiliary role.

His plan now is to concentrate spending on national defense, thus build up the nation's military forces and at the same time minimize the need for the WPA, because large scale armament expenditures will create large scale re-employment.

BITTER PROTESTS

Popular as relief deflation may be with business men, it is already encountering vehement protests from politicians and from harried local officials in heavily populated industrial areas.

Peppery Mayor LaGuardia made a loud squawk to the White House when he learned he could not refill 5,000 WPA vacancies. And a big-shot Midwestern Democratic leader flew to Washington and camped in Marvin McIntyre's office, until the White House secretary let him in to see Roosevelt and demand that relief rolls in his district be re-opened.

Also, in the inner circle there is much dissension over the policy. This is an old fight between the left-wing spenders and the right-wing budget balancers.

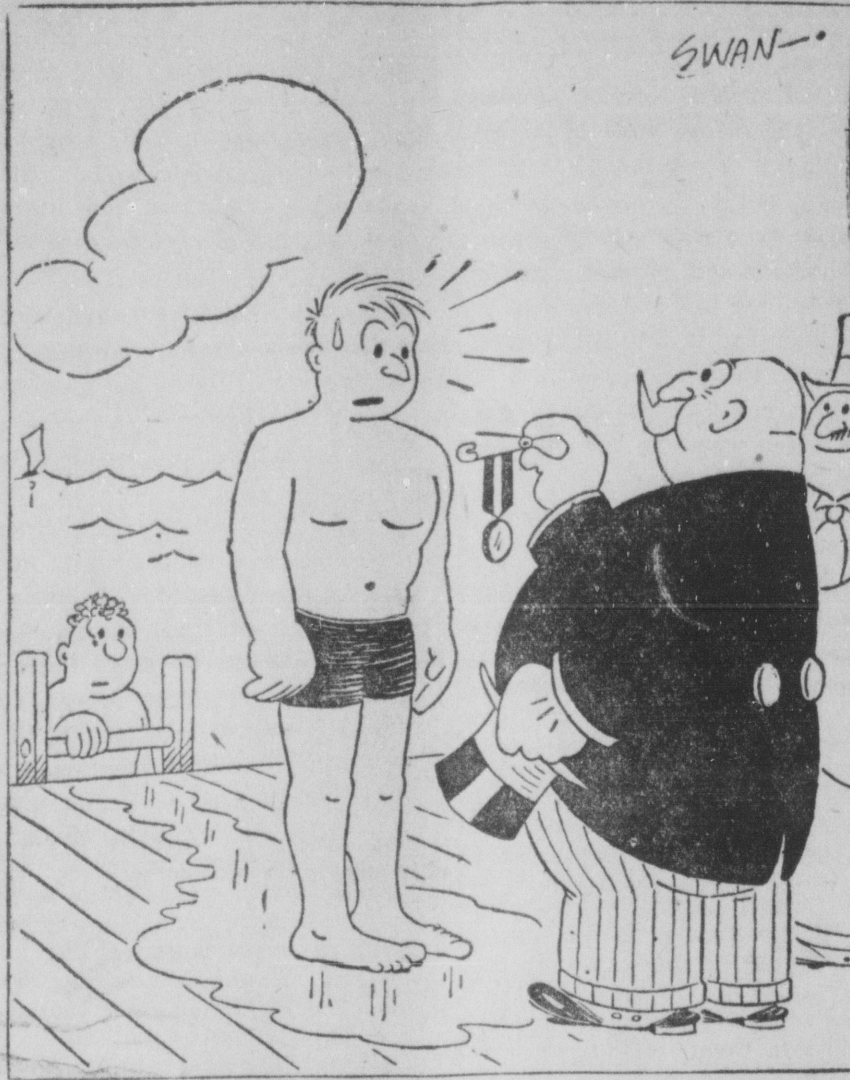

Roosevelt leans to the latter. Every time conditions pick up he starts slashing relief outlays—much to the despair of the spenders, who contend that without government expenditures there can be no lasting improvement in business.

WHEAT FROM MARS

Shortly after the famous radio invasion from Mars, a wise-cracking newsman asked Secretary Wallace if he anticipated the Martians would dump surplus agricultural products in the U. S. A.

"If the Martians start that," replied Henry, "we'll have to set up a tariff at once."

HELP YOUR PARTNER

PROTECTING YOUR partner's entries, after he has led his suit against no trump, is usually part of your job. When your side is able to take two tricks then in some suit led by declarer, you should try to take the first. This enables you to lead your partner's suit again before his entry is gone.

♠ J 10 8	♥ K 7 3	♦ J 7 3 2	♣ 10 8 5

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

Here West passed as dealer and North bid 1-Diamond. East passed and South called 2-No Trump, which North took to 3-No Trump.

West led the spade 4 against this contract, dummy played the 7 and East the 10, which was allowed to hold the trick. The spade J was returned and won with dummy's A. Declarer counted three diamond tricks, three clubs and two spades, so decided to immediately try to procure the ninth trick in the heart suit. He led the heart 4, East played the 3, South the J and West won with the A. With no other entry for his spades, there seemed no point to West in setting them up, so he switched to a club. South won and led another heart to East's K. That was the last trick for East-West.

East should have played his heart K when the 4 was led from dummy. The K offered the only hope of defeating the contract. South obviously needed one heart trick and East should have protected West's A until the spades were cleared.

READ THIS FIRST:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, creates a furor on the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, when she erects a sign in front of her cottage announcing "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE". Her plan is to help guide 100 student "members" in their social and love affairs for a small fee. Bob Towne, campus football hero, much attracted by Sara Sue, is the first to enroll. This enrages Peaches Pomeroy, a senior who regarded herself as Bob's girl. The previous year, Worthington Gurley, unproven freshman, provides another problem when it is evident he is interested in Sara Sue. The climax in her Cottage Plan occurs when sedate Dr. Thornton Holgate, new member of the faculty, begs Sara Sue to help him. Then comes his love for Peaches Pomeroy. She does, and gives him his first lesson in "how to become more human". Then T. J. Sanders, a sports goods salesman, appears on the scene and seeks out Sara Sue to help him locate a pretty girl he had seen in the stands at a local football game. The girl, of course, is Sara Sue herself. Bob finds Sanders' dog at Sara Sue's and begins to suspect he has a new rival. Sanders, much taken by Sara Sue, takes her to visit some dog kennels because she likes dogs, then makes other dates with her. Alone, she does some serious thinking about Sanders, Towne, Gurley and Dr. Holgate.

CHAPTER 17

SARA SUE WAS alone when Dr. Holgate arrived at 10 a. m. Her mother-in-law was visiting friends in Galveston. Calculus had gone somewhere on a temporary job, and Cleopatra was at the grocery store.

"How do you do?" Dr. Holgate greeted her cheerily, if stiffly. He even smiled, as if genuinely glad to see her.

"Nobody's here," she announced. "Don't come in so formally. Throw your hat at the table and slouch in, Thorny!"

He gazed intently at her. "Slouch?"

"Sure! Be human!"

"But, my dear Mrs. Davis—" "I am not your dear Mrs. Davis. I am Sara Sue. Just like I am to the rest of the bunch, Thorny."

She punctuated that with as sweet a smile as she could manage. "You must learn that you are one of the gang, not a stand-offish dignitary. Why, who are not—how old are you, anyway?"

"I shall be 29 in December. When one nears 30, one puts away childish things, it would seem."

"Oh, you're almost 29. Tech-tch." She clucked as if in abject pity, shaking her head. "Poor old dear. Sit here, Uncle Thornton, and let me get your slippers, and then maybe you will tell little me about Goldilocks and the three bears. Will you?"

He brushed rather miserably, and Sara Sue laughed out loud.

"Thorny Holgate, you ought to be ashamed! Why, I will be 24 at my next. Bob Towne—a lot of the seniors are as old as I, and a few are older. My first husband, Larry Davis—was five years older than I when we married. Why, silly, 28 isn't old! Nor 38 nor 48, for that matter. You have just been selfish and shy. Too scholarly. And too serious."

He sat down.

"It is true," he almost whispered it. "I know it is true, Mrs. D—Sara Sue. But—" He swallowed, looking beyond her.

"Thorny, I'm glad you came to me," she spoke ever so gently, then, sitting beside him, and looking at him. "The greatest happiness I have found is in helping other people find their happiness. I can see right through you now. I do want to help you. If you will co-operate with me, I think we can make you what you'd really want to be, and make Geraldine Pomeroy your sweetheart, too."

He touched her hand in gratitude, patted it abstractedly, thinking.

"Thank you, so much," he said, and meant it. "I will do everything you say."

She changed the mood, at that. "All right," she said, rather loudly and cheerfully. "Let's analyze. Now, first you have already attended to the clothing. By the way, you look fine this morning. This suit is ever so becoming, Thorny. Really it is."

He looked at his coat sleeve. "Your tie, too, is nice. Don't wear any more black ones, ever. And don't wear black socks. And, let me see—" She inspected him, hair to heel. "Listen, Thorny, take off your glasses a moment."

He obeyed, folding the heavy ear pieces.

"Well, my goodness! You have no idea what a difference it makes in you!"

"I daresay."

"It does, Thorny. Do you have to wear them?"

"Well, when I read, yes."

"But not all the time?"

"No. But I read a great deal, and it is convenient to wear them. I have just developed a habit of doing so. I am scarcely conscious of them."

"You wait a minute."

She hastened into her mother-in-law's bedroom, and came back bearing spectacles with small white gold frames and a different nose piece. "Try these on," she ordered. "They are mother's spares. I want to see this style on you."

He adjusted them, soberly.

"Now smile, Thorny. Look at me and say, 'How are you, Toots and grin like a sophomore.'"

It was a different order, but he managed it. Sara Sue giggled in delight.

"You trot right downtown this afternoon," she commanded, "and get fitted in a better style of frame. This one improves you a hundred per cent. Really it does. Takes that owlish look away. And you must wear glasses only when you read. At least while you're wooing Peaches Pomeroy. Promise?"

"I promise," he smiled appreciatively.

"You know, Thorny, you are really quite a handsome man, when you give yourself a chance. I was just noticing the set of your chin. And you have a good nose and mouth, and very pretty eyes."

"MILITARIST" DEMOCRACIES

"LET democracies understand this," said Hitler in his recent Weimar speech: "If they talk about rights of small peoples, they should not deny rights to big peoples. But history has shown that democracy in practice is different from democracy in theory. Democrats can conceive of one duty, namely, to uphold democracy, with resultant liberty to anybody to excite war."

"I cannot expect them to alter their constitutions," he added "but when one reads of Commoner Greenwood (of the British parliament) uttering the wish that Nazism and Fascism be crushed, and when one thinks of the possibility that his party some time may come into power, it is my duty to see that this Reich shall not be crushed."

The language is confused, as usual, but the idea is plain enough. Hitler is accusing the democracies of militarism. He brings this charge against Britain, which in its efforts to preserve peace has been making the greatest concessions it has made to any European power in a hundred years. He makes a similar charge against the United States, because our government, most pacific of all the big powers, is reluctantly rearming on account of the German, Italian and Japanese threats against this hemisphere.

If the Fascist powers once stop rattling the sword, piling up armament, attacking their neighbors and filling the air with threats, they will be surprised to see how soon and how gladly the democracies turn to peaceful activities and tolerance. When other nations let us alone, we don't care what kind of governments they have.

RAZZING A ROAD PEST

A MOTORIST can easily express his sentiments about some annoying driver ahead of him. A horn, inflexible and limited as it is, may speak eloquently to a dawdler and blast a passage through obstructing traffic. But it is a one-way device unless for troubles in the rear.

What can be done about the fellow behind who doesn't like the way you're driving, and honks at you to turn out for him when there's no room to turn out, or to speed up when you're caught in a procession and can't go any faster, or starts honking at a crossing before the light turns green?

For that fellow, there is a "tongue-sticker-outer" — which may or may not be the real name of it, but suffices for a description. A California man has invented a device in the shape of a mechanical clown's head, to be attached to the rear of a car. When you want to tell the honker-behind what you think of him, you just press a button and the clown sticks out his tongue at the offender. Whereupon the annoyance probably stops.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

WPA TO DROP 1,150,000

WASHINGTON—For campaign reasons the plan has been kept shush-shush, but behind those guarded statements about holding down relief expenditures is a secret program to slash WPA rolls on a large scale.

The President's aim is to pare the rolls down to 2,000,000 by March 1. That means a decrease of more than 1,150,000 from the October 1 peak.

The pruning will not be a forced one like that in the spring of 1937, when hundreds of thousands were dropped in a period of a few weeks. This time the deflation will be gradual, accomplished by not filling the places of those who leave voluntarily or are dismissed.

This exodus is a great deal larger than is realized. It averages over 7 percent per month. In September the turnover was 228,000, or 7.6 percent, of which 173,000 quit to take private jobs and the remainder were let out for various reasons, mostly disciplinary. Figures on the October turnover are still incomplete, but it will be well over 250,000.

Under the recent plan, WPA estimates the relief load will be 2,750,000 on December 1; 2,500,000 by January 1; 2,250,000 by February 1; and 2,000,000 by March 1.

On this basis, barring another economic upset, a comparatively moderate deficiency appropriation of around $500,000,000 will be required to carry WPA through the remaining four months of the fiscal year. This is in line with Roosevelt's policy of gradually demobilizing WPA from a major New Deal spending agency to a secondary and chiefly auxiliary role.

His plan now is to concentrate spending on national defense, thus build up the nation's military forces and at the same time minimize the need for the WPA, because large scale armament expenditures will create large scale re-employment.

BITTER PROTESTS

Popular as relief deflation may be with business men, it is already encountering vehement protests from politicians and from harried local officials in heavily populated industrial areas.

Peppery Mayor LaGuardia made a loud squawk to the White House when he learned he could not refill 5,000 WPA vacancies. And a big-shot Midwestern Democratic leader flew to Washington and camped in Marvin McIntyre's office, until the White House secretary let him in to see Roosevelt and demand that relief rolls in his district be re-opened.

Also, in the inner circle there is much dissension over the policy. This is an old fight between the left-wing spenders and the right-wing budget balancers.

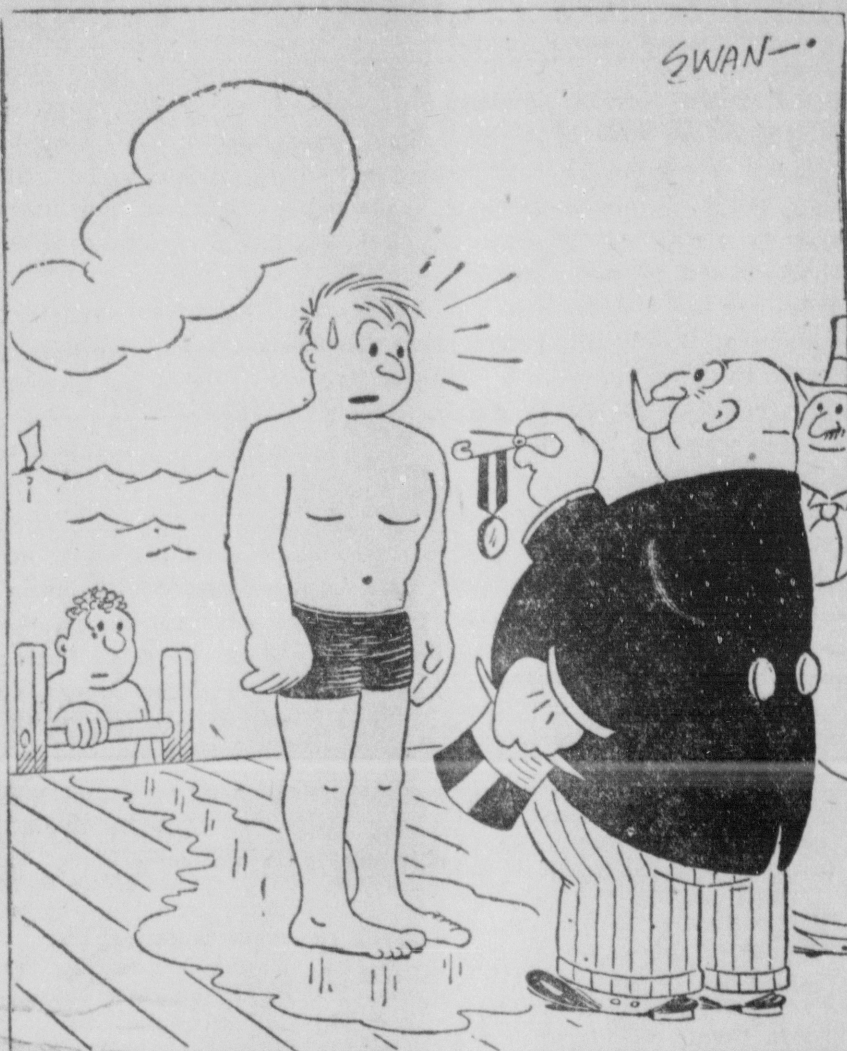

Roosevelt leans to the latter. Every time conditions pick up he starts slashing relief outlays—much to the despair of the spenders, who contend that without government expenditures there can be no lasting improvement in business.

WHEAT FROM MARS

Shortly after the famous radio invasion from Mars, a wise-cracking newsman asked Secretary Wallace if he anticipated the Martians would dump surplus agricultural products in the U. S. A.

"If the Martians start that," replied Henry, "we'll have to set up a tariff at once."

Here West passed as dealer and North bid 1-Diamond. East passed and South called 2-No Trump, which North took to 3-No Trump.

West led the spade 4 against this contract, dummy played the 7 and East the 10, which was allowed to hold the trick. The spade J was returned and won with dummy's A. Declarer counted three diamond tricks, three clubs and two spades, so decided to immediately try to procure the ninth trick in the heart suit. He led the heart 4, East played the 3, South the J and West won with the A. With no other entry for his spades, there seemed no point to West in setting them up, so he switched to a club. South won and led another heart to East's K. That was the last trick for East-West.

East should have played his heart K when the 4 was led from dummy. The K offered the only hope of defeating the contract. South obviously needed one heart trick and East should have protected West's A until the spades were cleared.

"You—ah—are ribbing me, I fear."

"No. I am giving you a professional analysis. Now listen further—you practice exercises before the mirror, will you? Remove your glasses, and do all sorts of facial contortions. Get that set look out of it, understand? You have too much of a scholastic, dignified expression. Try—try whistling, Thorny. And humming. And smiling. Smile a lot. Life isn't so serious. Really it isn't. The country isn't going to the dogs, or anything of the sort. You must be happy to be successful in love. So be happy. Mingle with people, and be gay with them. Promise?"

She edged off her lecturing then. In truth, she began to feel a trifle ashamed of herself. Could she be overdoing a job, in her enthusiasm? She almost apologized when that possibility occurred to her, but thought better of it and didn't.

They talked a bit more, and then he made a confession.

"I came with a report," he said. "Oh. What? I'm so curious to know."

"I have spoken to Miss Po—to Geraldine—in person."

"No! Really?"

"Yes! I, ah, accosted her in the sallyport only this morning. First I saw her coming from the physics laboratory, and when she was unexpectedly alone, I hastened across the greensward and came onto her as if by chance. She was quite cordial."

"What all did she say?"

"Why—ah—nothing of importance. I mean—that is—only impersonal talk. But I was wondering if you would approve of my inviting her to go for some, ah, refreshments, at some convenient time. Such appears to be the custom in her set."

"What you mean is, Thorny, would it be all right to say, 'Come on and I'll buy you a coke. Just do it casually, like that. Like any of the boys do.'"

"Oh!"

"Sure. Take her acceptance for granted. Just grab her arm and escort her on down toward the Autry house, or some other hangout where there's a soda fountain. Talk and laugh a lot. Kid her along. Promise?"

"I shall try."

"Did she ask you about your mathematics work this morning?"

"Yes. She was quite interested—ah, how did you know, Sara Sue?"

"I didn't. But I guessed. You see, she was just applying what I told you to apply. Smart girls know how to entertain men. She knew instantly that you would talk about yourself, and your interests. Now, you go back and lead her into talking about herself, and her interests. The same trick will work both ways. Women use it to win men. Men can use it to win women."

"I shall try," he promised. "I am determined to try everything you order. I am convinced that you are a most remarkable woman."

"Girl, Thorny."

"Girl," he amended.

ODDITIES OF THE WORLD

Tired of never receiving rent, a Czechoslovakian landlord decided to blow up 47 tenants. He installed a complicated system of infernal machines, bombs, gunpowder and other explosives, connecting it with the electric current and a time apparatus. The tenants discovered his plan in time.

Duke, a terrier in Massachusetts, deaf for two years, has been equipped with a microphone strapped to his back, and bone-conductor headphones.

Tasmanian engineers and marine experts now use the familiar orange as a means of ascertaining the vagaries of sea and river currents. In Hobart Harbour recently, oranges, each one carefully numbered, were cast into the waters, and anyone who picked one up on the shore was asked to return it to the Town Hall, stating where it had been picked up, and when. By this method the experts hope to chart the intricate currents of the waters—and, incidentally, solve the problem of garbage, which floats downstream, polluting the harbour.

Cows of the Voroshilovgrad district of Russia are chewing the cud with false teeth made for them by a local dentist. The animals lost their teeth through a mysterious disease and one farmer, finding toothless cows a liability rather than an asset consulted his dentist. The dentist said he'd never made teeth for cows but he'd have a shot at it. He did, and now each of the toothless cows has a set of masticators, which are said to function perfectly.

Twenty Years of Disillusion

ARMISTICE DAY REFLECTIONS

Clouds that threatened another World War have but recently been dispelled. Today, we can look back over two decades of disillusion. We can count the terrible cost and the meager results of the Great Crusade of 1917 and 1918.

As we bow our heads in momentary tribute to the fallen, let us hope that no more boys will have to go "over there" and that all the victories of the future may be victories of Peace over War.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A beauty shelf in a corner of the kitchen is the housewife's insurance against being caught red-handed, or more literally smudgy-nosed, when the front door bell rings unexpectedly.

It holds a few important items of beauty equipment—toilet soap, face powder, lip stick, and a soothing lotion for the skin. A small mirror over the shelf and a clean hand towel complete the list of necessities for last-minute freshening up.

It the man of the house complains because the tobacco in his jar, can or pocket pouch dries out, try dipping the humidifier or the container in a mixture of equal parts of glycerine and water, and the tobacco will stay moist longer.

Republicans in Full Control Of Next Assembly After Winning Election

Bulkley, New Deal Democrat, amounted to nearly 172,000. In addition the Republicans took 15 congressional seats, including the two places for congressmen at large, for a majority in the 24-man congressional delegation. The triumph was the more impressive because of the Democratic sweep of all but two seats in 1936.

The switch in Congress removed 12 incumbent Democrats with both Republican incumbents winning re-election.

The Republican victory encompassed every state executive or administrative office that was to be filled by the election and resulted in retirement of the Democratic secretary of state, treasurer, and attorney general. The G. O. P. also won the lieutenant governorship. State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, elected for four years in 1936, will be the only Democratic official in the state house after the January inaugurations.

Weygant is Victor

The only Democratic victories were registered in the contests for places on the state supreme court. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant won at the last moment for re-election over Judge Walter B. Wamaker, Akron, by the strength of the final returns for him in his home county of Cuyahoga. State Relief Director William C. Dixon, of Cleveland, defeated the Republican candidate G. K. Allen, Cleveland, for the short, unexpired term on the bench.

Judge Edward S. Matthias, Republican, Van Wert, won re-election to the supreme court and Judge William L. Hart, of Alliance, who once served a short term on the high bench defeated the Democratic incumbent, Robert N. Gorman, of Cincinnati. The changes will give the Republicans a four to three majority on the bench.

After just one term for each, Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, Cleveland, State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley, and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, Columbus, were ousted in favor of Republicans. James Metzger, of Cleveland, counsel for the senate graft investigation last winter, was beaten for lieutenant governor by Paul M. Herbert, Columbus attorney.

The next general assembly will be almost as overwhelmingly Republican as the present one is Democratic, so complete was the reversal in public opinion. Some of the larger counties turned out their entire Democratic delegations for Republicans, and four Republicans won places in the big Democratic Cuyahoga county representation.

Of the 136 house seats the Republicans will have 100. In the senate with a membership of 35 for the coming biennium the Republicans will have 27 in contrast to their present five-man minority.

Kilpatrick, Kalb Lose

Among the Democratic casualties in the legislative races were Bishop Kilpatrick, Trumbull county, majority floor leader in the house and Rep. Al Kalb, of Ottawa county, chairman of the present house finance committee.

Re-election of Rep. William McCulloch, Miami county, Republican minority leader, marked him as the leading contender for the speakership.

The proposed constitutional amendment for the initial appointment of state supreme and appellate court judges was rejected decisively by approximately a two to one vote. The amendment would have provided for the appointment of judges for six-year terms and would have required them to run against their records to remain on the bench after their first terms.

Judge Matthias in the supreme court race built up the biggest majority in the election, triumphing by a majority of more than 300,000.

Herbert's Edge Big

In the contests for state offices, Thomas J. Herbert, Cleveland, won the attorney generalship from Duffy by the widest margin of victory. His lead amounted to more than 180,000. Don H. Ebbright, Akron city finance director triumphed over Treasurer Knisley and Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead publisher, won over Secretary of State Kennedy by considerably smaller majorities.

The secretary of state's tabulation of the vote showed that George H. Bender, Cleveland, Republican, led the field for congressmen at large with a total of 1,164,759, followed by the other Republican nominee, L. L. Marshall, also of Cleveland, with 1,096,074. John McSweeney, Democratic incumbent, Wooster, had 1,063,250, and Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, the least with 1,019,667.

The state of Louisiana has "parishes" instead of counties.

patch said, it was estimated that from 2,000 to 3,000 Jews were arrested in Vienna alone, as part of a national round-up of Jews whose identification papers were not in order.

An American physician, Dr. Laurence K. Etter of Los Angeles, was arrested and held for two hours at a precinct police station here because he tried to take miniature motion pictures of smashed shops.

Many others, including several Norwegians, Swedes and Danes, and numerous Germans, were arrested merely for possessing cameras.

One German was arrested because, it was charged, he remarked that the anti-Jewish riots were shameful.

The outbreaks started at 2 a. m. today, continued to 4, subsided and broke out again at 6:30.

The official news agency, after carrying only fragmentary comments on the outbreaks, issued the following communique at noon:

"The death of a young German diplomat at Paris caused extraordinary indignation throughout Germany in view of the criminal provocation by international Jewry.

"Spontaneous anti-Jewish demonstrations occurred in countless towns. The populations set fire to Jewish synagogues in most towns. The fire brigade in many cases was only able to protect neighboring buildings. In many cities in the Reich, windows of Jewish shops were smashed and Jewish shops were occasionally set afire.

"Owing to the extraordinary excitement among the population, merchandise contained in shops was partly destroyed.

"In Berlin, Jewish shops in the Kurfurstendamm and other districts were destroyed.

"Owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody for their own protection."

of the Mohammedan world. He forbade polygamy. He forbade men to wear the traditional fez and women to wear veils. He invented a Latin alphabet to supplant the Arabic one. He Europeanized music. He built a new capital at Ankara. He organized industry and banking, modernized agriculture, balanced budgets, built railroads.

He was elected president first in 1923 and re-elected without opposition in 1927, 1931, and 1935.

During all these years, he was leading a boisterous private life—one that would have taxed all the energies of an ordinary man even without any work. King Edward VIII lost his British throne partly because many people disapproved of his mildly gay life. The Turks only loved their ruler the more, and re-named him officially Atatürk—father of his people.

Kemal Atatürk was a man of most unusual personal charm, handsome, lithe, magnetic. They called him the "gray wolf" because of his grayish look. He could outdrink the cabinet ministers and army officers who were his companions during his rule, for he stuck to his friends, and he could outwork them. His strength of constitution had been a matter of astonishment. Atatürk himself when physicians protested that he was ruining his health, said he owed his health to his indefatigable dancing and relaxation at the poker table. One physician, who warned him 20 years ago that he would die soon unless he reorganized his life, himself died soon afterward. Kemal kept on smoking, incidentally, as many as 150 cigarettes a day.

Atatürk loved many women. During the early days of his power, the nation acclaimed his romance with Latife Hanoum, 18 years his junior, daughter of a shipowner and one of the country's first modern women. She was the first Turkish woman to appear in public in riding breeches. Atatürk married her at the time he was first trying to modernize the country's women. But she proved too modern for Atatürk. He regarded her as inclined to be too masterful, and divorced her by presidential decree in 1924 after two years.

After that Kemal lived as a bachelor, but as a gay one.

Childless, he adopted a daughter, Sabina, who now commands a bombing squadron in the air force. A second adopted daughter, Zihra, was killed three years ago in a fall from a Paris-Calais boat train.

Several years ago, fearing he could not much longer stand the strain of his driving pace, the people of Turkey gave Atatürk a yacht, paid for by popular subscription.

Atatürk was born in Salonica when Abdul Hamid, "the damned," was sultan. He went to military academy as a boy and entered the army. He was of a rebellious nature and early in his career decided that Turkey was behind the times. The result was, as he made no effort to conceal his views, he was often in trouble.

SYNAGOGUE LEVELED

A crowd of several hundred stood in mid-morning watching a synagogue in the Kurfurstendamm burning. The building was afire in several places and the roof had collapsed.

Crowds stood in front of wrecked shops. Apparently watchers were scattered among them. A United Press correspondent saw one woman taking down names of destroyed shops. A non-uniformed man approached her and warned her to stop taking notes or she would be arrested.

At 6:30 a. m. (Circleville Time) gangs were still destroying shop windows and their contents in the Unter Den Linden section in the heart of Berlin.

A United Press dispatch from Frankfurt said that Jewish shops were smashed there and synagogues were fired.

A dispatch to the United Press from Hamburg said that shop windows were smashed there and that three synagogues were invaded and damaged.

The United Press correspondent at Cologne said that a wave of anti-Jewish outbreaks swept over that entire area as far as Aix La Chapelle during the night. Mobs smashed the windows of Jewish shops, scattered the contents, and smashed the windows of Jewish homes—some as high as the third floor. A mob broke into a synagogue, the dispatch said, uprooted seats and flung vestments into the street and then set fire to the building.

The establishment of an American Jewish businessman at Cologne, whose name was not disclosed, was smashed, the correspondent said.

After these incidents, the Cologne correspondent said, special police were detailed to control large crowds of disorderly persons.

Destruction of Jewish shops in Berlin reached the proportions of a macabre holiday in the early afternoon in the Unter Den Linden section.

Organized groups of men in civilian clothes methodically broke not only shop windows but destroyed the contents of Jewish shops, including one large bric a brac store where porcelain vases were hurled like baseballs through glass show cases.

$1,600 SUIT OF CHARLES HAAS HEARD IN COURT

Suit of Charles Haas of near Amanda, against the Ralston-Purina Co., asking $1,600 for alleged breach of contract on the sale of corn, was being presented Thursday to a Common Pleas court jury.

Jurors selected for the trial are Kenneth Bell, Jackson township; Rachel Call, Monroe; Fred Minshall, Saltcreek; John Beavers, Scioto; Earl Vincent, Perry; Tamme Marcy, Deercreek; George Peters, Harrison, and Charles Mack, Paul Miller, Anna Ritt, Jennie Reid and Joseph Wolf, Circleville.

the Ohio division of aid for the aged. Wray Evens, Ohio pension chief, replied Monday that the division was not violating federal or state pension regulations.

In connection with his criticism of the Social Security board the governor indirectly attacked the administration in Washington for "centralization of power."

"This excessive centralization of power in Washington through the right to give or withhold money is one of the gravest dangers which threaten the American form of government," he said.

"They circumvent the clear inhibitions of the federal Constitution in their effort to destroy the rights and powers of the state."

Asserting that the Social Security board "is in trouble" with several other states, the governor declared that he intends to ask for a congressional investigation of the board before the end of the year.

"A congressional investigation might prove a healthy corrective of a sinister and growing evil," he said.

The governor said the board's charges would undoubtedly be disproved in the hearing before the Ohio supreme court, set for today, in the mandamus suit brought against him, Evens, and Welfare Director Margaret Allman by Edgar S. Byers, Cleveland attorney, to compel the pension division to comply with the federal board's orders issued in September.

The first of the October pension checks were expected to be mailed late today or Friday. Auditor Ferguson will start mailing them as soon as the transfer of funds has been certified.

The mailing will require two or three days. The stamping machines cannot stamp 112,000 envelopes in a day and even if they could, the postoffice would not handle that many letters in one day.

The checks will be mailed a county at a time, in alphabetical order.

LAURELVILLE MAN GOES TO HOSPITAL AND JAIL

John Ross, 42, of Laurelville, was sent to the county jail Thursday by Mayor W. B. Cady when he failed to pay a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of being drunk and disorderly Wednesday night in a S. Scioto street beer parlor.

Ross was treated in Berger hospital for cuts on the head suffered when he was hit by a beer bottle, officers said, in an altercation. After being treated by Dr. E. L. Montgomery, Ross was discharged from the hospital.

Donald Johnson, 23, of W. Mill street, alleged to have wielded the beer bottle, was in the city jail awaiting a hearing Thursday night on a charge of assault and battery.

ITALIAN DECREE HITS MARRIAGE TO FOREIGNERS

ROME, Nov. 10 — (UP) — The cabinet established fines and punishment today for violators of new regulations governing marriages of Italians and the status of Italian Jews.

The cabinet enacted into law the decisions reached by the grand council on Oct. 6.

The decree said the marriage of Italian citizens of Aryan race with persons of another race is forbidden, and if performed will be considered invalid.

If an Italian wishes to marry a foreigner, it was decreed, he will be obliged to obtain a special permit from the minister of interior.

Transgressors are liable to three months imprisonment and fines up to 10,000 lire. If an Italian marrying a foreigner occupies a post in the state's structure or any of the organizations of the Fascist party, he will lose both job and rank.

Any official guilty of performing marriages between Italians and foreigners or non-Aryans will be liable to a fine varying from 500 lire to 5,000.

In regard to Jews, the cabinet confirmed the grand council's decision under which an individual is to be classed as Aryan or non-Aryan.

MACK'S FOOT-HEALTH TALKS

NO. 1. STYLE SHOES.

We can blame a lot of human suffering and misery on the foolish observance of style. In the past there have been many fashions of dress that were actually a menace to health. Take for instance, the tight-wasp-like waist line of our grandmothers, obtained by wearing tightly laced corsets. Modern girls and women are too active to put up with the confining and tightly fitted clothing of the 1800s. That is, they are with everything except their shoes. Women still wear shoes that bind and distort their toes. They wouldn't for one minute wear a pair of gloves that cramped their fingers like their shoes do their feet. In a certain large city some 700 women, 25 years or older had their feet and shoes checked by the most scientific methods to see if they were properly fitted. Out of the 700, only 38 had on shoes that could be called a perfect fit. More than half had on short shoes and many were wearing shoes improperly shaped. In most cases only the first and second toes had enough room to stretch out, the remaining three were trying to crawl on top of each other as they were cramped against the outer edge of the shoe. People seem to forget that they have five toes and that all five need room to stretch out. Just because your big toe doesn't hit the end of the shoe is no assurance that the shoe is long enough. Your smaller toes always hit the side of the shoe long before the great toe reaches the end. Pointed toes and short vamp make shoes stylish but they sure ruin a lot of otherwise good feet. And if you don't think that's true and that women are still vain enough to crowd their feet, look down the aisle at the theatre or under the bridge table and see how many women have to kick off their shoes to give a pair of sore dogs a little freedom. Now we don't mean to say that you should never wear pretty shoes, because you will anyway, but you can wear them in such a way that they won't make you suffer. Do this . . . keep your dress shoes for dress wear only. For a few hours at a time, it doesn't matter what you wear, but during the day when you are on your feet, have regular day-time shoes that you buy entirely for your feet's sake. You wouldn't wear an evening gown to do house work in, so why try to wear evening shoes for that purpose. House shoes should be exorbed with medium or low heels, and toes round enough to permit your toes to wiggle.

This is number one in a series of foot talks intended to help you keep your feet well and comfortable. Watch for the next, and in the mean time, for good shoes properly fitted, come to—

Bulkley, New Deal Democrat, amounted to nearly 172,000. In addition the Republicans took 15 congressional seats, including the two places for congressman at large, for a majority in the 24-man congressional delegation. The triumph was the more impressive because of the Democratic sweep of all but two seats in 1936.

The switch in Congress removed 12 incumbent Democrats with both Republican incumbents winning re-election.

The Republican victory encompassed every state executive or administrative office that was to be filled by the election and resulted in retirement of the Democratic secretary of state, treasurer, and attorney general. The G. O. P. also won the lieutenant governorship. State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, elected for four years in 1936, will be the only Democratic official in the state house after the January inaugurations.

Weygant Is Victor

The only Democratic victories were registered in the contests for places on the state supreme court. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant won at the last moment for re-election over Judge Walter B. Wana-maker, Akron, by the strength of the final returns for him in his home county of Cuyahoga. State Relief Director William C. Dixon, of Cleveland, defeated the Republican candidate G. K. Allen, Cleveland, for the short, unexpired term on the bench.

Judge Edward S. Matthias, Republican, Van Wert, won re-election to the supreme court and Judge William L. Hart, of Alliance, who once served a short term on the high bench defeated the Democratic incumbent, Robert N. Gorman, of Cincinnati. The changes will give the Republicans a four to three majority on the bench.

After just one term for each, Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, Cleveland, State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley, and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, Columbus, were ousted in favor of Republicans. James Metzger, of Cleveland, counsel for the senate graft investigation last winter, was beaten for lieutenant governor by Paul M. Herbert, Columbus attorney.

The next general assembly will be almost as overwhelmingly Republican as the present one is Democratic, so complete was the reversal in public opinion. Some of the larger counties turned out their entire Democratic delegations for Republicans, and four Republicans won places in the big Democratic Cuyahoga county representation.

Of the 136 house seats the Republicans will have 100. In the senate with a membership of 35 for the coming biennium the Republicans will have 27 in contrast to their present five-man minority.

Kilpatrick, Kaib Lose

Among the Democratic casualties in the legislative races were Bishop Kilpatrick, Trumbull county, majority floor leader in the house and Rep. Al Kaib, of Ottawa county, chairman of the present house finance committee.

Re-election of Rep. William McCulloch, Miami county, Republican minority leader, marked him as the leading contender for the speakership.

The proposed constitutional amendment for the initial appointment of state supreme and appellate court judges was rejected decisively by approximately a two to one vote. The amendment would have provided for the appointment of judges for six-year terms and would have required them to run against their records to remain on the bench after their first terms.

Judge Matthias in the supreme court race built up the biggest majority in the election, triumphing by a majority of more than 300,000.

Herbert's Edge Big

In the contests for state offices, Thomas J. Herbert, Cleveland, won the attorney generalship from Duffy by the widest margin of victory. His lead amounted to more than 180,000. Don H. Ebricht, Akron city finance director triumphed over Treasurer Knisley and Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead publisher, won over Secretary of State Kennedy by considerably smaller majorities.

The secretary of state's tabulation of the vote showed that George H. Bender, Cleveland, Republican, led the field for congressman at large with a total of 1,164,759, followed by the other Republican nominee, L. L. Marshall, also of Cleveland, with 1,096,074. John McSweeney, Democratic incumbent, Wooster, had 1,063,250, and Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, the least with 1,019,667.

The state of Louisiana has "parishes" instead of counties.

CROWDS WATCH AS SYNAGOGUES ARE FIRE SWEEP

Mobs Roam Streets, Wreck Businesses in Vengeance For Secretary's Death

patch said, it was estimated that from 2,000 to 3,000 Jews were arrested in Vienna alone, as part of a national round-up of Jews whose identification papers were not in order.

An American physician, Dr. Laurence K. Etter of Los Angeles, was arrested and held for two hours at a precinct police station here because he tried to take miniature motion pictures of smashed shops.

Many others, including several Norwegians, Swedes and Danes, and numerous Germans, were arrested merely for possessing cameras.

One German was arrested because, it was charged, he remarked that the anti-Jewish riots were shameful.

The outbreaks started at 2 a. m. today, continued to 4, subsided and broke out again at 6:30.

The official news agency, after carrying only fragmentary comments on the outbreaks, issued the following communique at noon:

"The death of a young German diplomat at Paris caused extraordinary indignation throughout Germany in view of the criminal provocation by international Jewry.

"Spontaneous anti-Jewish demonstrations occurred in countless towns. The populations set fire to Jewish synagogues in most towns. The fire brigade in many cases was only able to protect neighboring buildings. In many cities in the Reich, windows of Jewish shops were smashed and Jewish shops were occasionally set afire.

"Owing to the extraordinary excitement among the population, merchandise contained in shops was partly destroyed.

"In Berlin, Jewish shops in the Kurfurstendamm and other districts were destroyed.

"Owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody for their own protection."

Synagogue Leveled

A crowd of several hundred stood in mid-morning watching a synagogue in the Kurfurstendamm burning. The building was afire in several places and the roof had collapsed.

Crowds stood in front of wrecked shops. Apparently watchers were scattered among them. A United Press correspondent saw one woman taking down names of destroyed shops. A non-uniformed man approached her and warned her to stop taking notes or she would be arrested.

At 6:30 a. m. (Circleville Time) gangs were still destroying shop windows and their contents in the Unter Den Linden section in the heart of Berlin.

A United Press dispatch from Frankfurt said that Jewish shops were smashed there and synagogues were fired.

A dispatch to the United Press from Hamburg said that shop windows were smashed there and that three synagogues were invaded and damaged.

The United Press correspondent at Cologne said that a wave of anti-Jewish outbreaks swept over that entire area as far as Aix La Chapelle during the night. Mobs smashed the windows of Jewish shops, scattered the contents, and smashed the windows of Jewish homes—some as high as the third floor. A mob broke into a synagogue, the dispatch said, uprooted seats and flung vestments into the street and then set fire to the building.

The establishment of an American Jewish businessman at Cologne, whose name was not disclosed, was smashed, the correspondent said.

After these incidents, the Cologne correspondent said, special police were detailed to control large crowds of disorderly persons.

Destruction of Jewish shops in Berlin reached the proportions of a macabre holiday in the early afternoon in the Unter Den Linden section.

Organized groups of men in civilian clothes methodically broke not only shop windows but destroyed the contents of Jewish shops, including one large bric a brac store where porcelain vases were hurled like baseballs through glass show cases.

of the Mohammedan world. He forbade polygamy. He forbade men to wear the traditional fez and women to wear veils. He invented a Latin alphabet to supplant the Arabic one. He Europeanized music. He built a new capital at Ankara. He organized industry and banking, modernized agriculture, balanced budgets, built railroads.

He was elected president first in 1923 and re-elected without opposition in 1927, 1931, and 1935.

During all these years, he was leading a boisterous private life—one that would have taxed all the energies of an ordinary man even without any work. King Edward VIII lost his British throne partly because many people disapproved of his mildly gay life. The Turks only loved their ruler the more, and re-named him officially Atatürk—father of his people.

Kemal Atatürk was a man of most unusual personal charm, handsome, lithe, magnetic. They called him the "gray wolf" because of his gray hair. He could outdrink the cabinet ministers and army officers who were his companions during his rule, for he stuck to his friends, and he could outwork them. His strength of constitution had been a matter of astonishment. Atatürk himself when physicians protested that he was ruining his health, said he owed his health to his indefatigable dancing and relaxation at the poker table. One physician, who warned him 20 years ago that he would die soon unless he reorganized his life, himself died soon afterward. Kemal kept on smoking, incidentally, as many as 150 cigarettes a day.

Atatürk loved many women. During the early days of his power, the nation acclaimed his romance with Latife Hanoun, 18 years his junior, daughter of a shipowner and one of the country's first modern women. She was his first Turkish woman to appear in public in riding breeches. Atatürk married her at the time he was first trying to modernize the country's women. But she proved too modern for Atatürk. He regarded her as inclined to be too masterful, and divorced her by presidential decree in 1924 after two years.

After that Kemal lived as a bachelor, but as a gay one. Childless, he adopted a daughter, Sabina, who now commands a bombing squadron in the air force. A second adopted daughter, Zihra, was killed three years ago in a fall from a Paris-Calais boat train.

Several years ago, fearing he could not much longer stand the strain of his driving pace, the people of Turkey gave Atatürk a yacht, paid for by popular subscription.

Atatürk was born in Salonica when Abdul Hamid, "the damned," was sultan. He went to military academy as a boy and entered the army. He was of a rebellious nature and early in his career decided that Turkey was behind the times. The result was, as he made no effort to conceal his views, he was often in trouble.

FINANCE CHIEF ORDERED TO PAY STATE PENSIONS

the Ohio division of aid for the aged, Wray Bevins, Ohio pension chief, replied Monday that the division was not violating federal or state pension regulations.

In connection with his criticism of the Social Security board the governor indirectly attacked the administration in Washington for "centralization of power."

"This excessive centralization of power in Washington through the right to give or withhold money is one of the gravest dangers which threaten the American form of government," he said.

"They circumvent the clear inhibitions of the federal Constitution in their effort to destroy the rights and powers of the state."

Asserting that the Social Security board "is in trouble" with several other states, the governor declared that he intends to ask for a congressional investigation of the board before the end of the year.

"A congressional investigation might prove a healthy corrective of a sinister and growing evil," he said.

The governor said the board's charges would undoubtedly be disproved in the hearing before the Ohio supreme court, set for today, in the mandamus suit brought against him, Bevins, and Welfare Director Margaret Allman by Edgar S. Byers, Cleveland attorney, to compel the pension division to comply with the federal board's orders issued in September.

The first of the October pension checks were expected to be mailed late today or Friday. Auditor Ferguson will start mailing them as soon as the transfer of funds has been certified.

The mailing will require two or three days. The stamping machines cannot stamp 112,000 envelopes in a day and even if they could, the postoffice would not handle that many letters in one day.

The checks will be mailed a county at a time, in alphabetical order.

LAURELVILLE MAN GOES TO HOSPITAL AND JAIL

John Ross, 42, of Laurelville, was sent to the county jail Thursday by Mayor W. B. Cady when he failed to pay a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of being drunk and disorderly Wednesday night in a S. Scioto street beer parlor.

Ross was treated in Berger hospital for cuts on the head suffered when he was hit by a beer bottle, officers said, in an altercation. After being treated by Dr. E. L. Montgomery, Ross was discharged from the hospital.

Donald Johnson, 23, of W. Mill street, alleged to have wielded the beer bottle, was in the city jail awaiting a hearing Thursday night on a charge of assault and battery.

ITALIAN DECREE HITS MARRIAGE TO FOREIGNERS

ROME, Nov. 10 — (UP) — The cabinet established fines and punishment today for violators of new regulations governing marriages of Italians and the status of Italian Jews.

The cabinet enacted into law the decisions reached by the grand council on Oct. 6.

The decree said the marriage of Italian citizens of Aryan race with persons of another race is forbidden, and if performed will be considered invalid.

If an Italian wishes to marry a foreigner, it was decreed, he will be obliged to obtain a special permit from the minister of interior.

Transgressors are liable to three months imprisonment and fines up to 10,000 lire. If an Italian marrying a foreigner occupies a post in the state's structure or any of the organizations of the Fascist party, he will lose both job and rank.

Any official guilty of performing marriages between Italians and foreigners or non-Aryans will be liable to a fine varying from 500 lire to 5,000.

In regard to Jews, the cabinet confirmed the grand council's decision under which an individual is to be classed as Aryan or non-Aryan.

MACK'S FOOT-HEALTH TALKS

NO. 1. STYLE SHOES.

We can blame a lot of human suffering and misery on the foolish observance of style. In the past there have been many fashions of dress that were actually a menace to health. Take for instance, the tight wasp-like waist line of our grandmothers, obtained by wearing tightly laced corsets. Modern girls and women are too active to put up with the confining and tightly fitted clothing of the 1800s. That is, they are with everything except their shoes. Women still wear shoes that bind and distort their toes. They wouldn't for one minute wear a pair of gloves that cramped their fingers like their shoes do their feet. In a certain large city some 700 women, 25 years or older had their feet and shoes checked by the most scientific methods to see if they were properly fitted. Out of the 700, only 38 had on shoes that could be called a perfect fit. More than half had on short shoes and many were wearing shoes improperly shaped. In most cases only the first and second toes had enough room to stretch out, the remaining three were trying to crawl on top of each other as they were cramped against the outer edge of the shoe. People seem to forget that they have five toes and that all five need room to stretch out. Just because your big toe doesn't hit the end of the shoe is no assurance that the shoe is long enough. Your smaller toes always hit the side of the shoe long before the great toe reaches the end. Pointed toes and short vamps may make shoes stylish but they sure ruin a lot of otherwise good feet. And if you don't think that's true and that women are still vain enough to crowd their feet, look down the aisle at the theatre or under the bridge table and see how many women have to kick off their shoes to give a pair of sore dogs a little freedom. Now we don't mean to say that you should never wear pretty shoes, because you will anyway, but you can wear them in such a way that they won't make you suffer. Do this . . . keep your dress shoes for dress wear only. For a few hours at a time, it doesn't matter what you wear, but during the day when you are on your feet, have regular day-time shoes that you buy entirely for your feet's sake. You wouldn't wear an evening gown to do house work in, so why try to wear evening shoes for that purpose. House shoes should be oxfords with medium or low heels, and toes round enough to permit your toes to wiggle.

This is number one in a series of foot talks intended to help you keep your feet well and comfortable. Watch for the next, and in the mean time, for good shoes properly fitted, come to—

TIGERS VS. GROVE CITY

TIGERS TO CLOSE GRID SEASON FRIDAY EVENING AGAINST GROVE CITY

RED AND BLACK STILL STRIVING FOR FIRST WIN

Backfield Expected to be Smith, Bumgarner, Noggle And Liston

The curtain will be rung down on Circleville high school's football season Friday at about 10 p. m. after a battle with Pete Trego's Grove City aggregation. The game is scheduled at 8 p. m. under the lights of school field with officials to be Red Tompkins of Wittenberg, Rodney Ross of Ohio State and Schroth of Muskingum.

The Tigers have been unable to enter the victory column all season although they have put up good battles against several strong foes. The only team to run up a big score on the Red and Black was Greenfield, although Washington C. H. could have gained more than its 26-7 edge a week ago had its coach kept his varsity in all evening as Red Armstrong did at Greenfield.

The Red and Black aggregation was taking form today with Coaches Black and Armstrong about set on their starters. Paul Walters is definitely out with injuries received in the Washington C. H. game incapacitating him. Harold Smith, hurt also at Washington, is ready to go and will be in the starting lineup.

Bumgarner May Start
Warren Bumgarner, speedy senior who did not report until two weeks ago, seemed to have a starting role clinched Thursday after showing well in practice all week. He may replace Bill Stebelton in the starting lineup. Bob Liston and Johnny Noggle are expected to complete the ball-toting corps.

The remainder of the team will probably include Heffner and D. Jackson at ends, Rooney and Hill at tackles, Arledge and Hays, Hart or Harden at guards and Nelson at center.

The Grove City aggregation is a fast one, big and strong and carrying many threats. Two of the Grove City athletes, Shover, a guard and Trapp, a fullback, gained places on a Columbus newspaper's all-county team.

Three others, Near at end, Worthington at center and Breckinridge at halfback, made the second team.

The game has been designated as "Stooge Dads" night, men selected by members of the Stooge Club as their "dads" to occupy special seats.

A large crowd is expected to attend the football game.

HUTSON NEARING FOUR MARKS IN PRO GRID LOOP

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Four National Professional league football records appeared today to be within reach of the viscous fingers of Don Hutson, Green Bay's all-America end.

He has already tied his own touchdown record of nine and the Packers have two more games to play.

Having scored 56 points, he needs four more touchdowns to break the record of Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears who tallied 79 in 1934. If he can catch 13 passes to add to his 29, he will break his own record of 41 receptions set last year. He also could break Gaynell Tinsley's 675 yards gained on pass receiving by adding 169 yards to his present 507 total.

Tinsley, however, has the better chance to break Hutson's record of 41 successful receptions in one season. The Cardinals' great end has caught 31 thus far.

Behind Hutson in points scored were Clark Hinkle, his Green Bay teammate, with 45 and Andy Farkas, Washington, with 37.

1940 OLYMPIAD SCHEDULED FOR JULY 20 - AUG. 4

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Finland's official invitation to the United States for the XII Olympiad disclosed today that the quadrennial competition in 1940 will be held July 20 to Aug. 4.

The American Olympic committee announced it would meet Dec. 5 at New York to formally accept the invitation and to act on other Olympic plans.

Coinciding with the invitation, the American committee received the first entry of the games. Donna Fox of New York, holder of the record for the St. Moritz course where the Olympic bobsled races are to be held, sent in his entry for the tryouts at Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10-13, 1939. Fox, captain of the No. 1 American team that went to the 1936 Olympics in Germany, was prevented from competing by a severe back injury suffered in a spill during a practice run.

Ohio U.-Dayton Battle Climaxes State's Card

DAYTON, Nov. 10.—The eyes of Buckeye conference football fans will be focussed Saturday on the Ohio-Dayton game at Dayton, a contest that will play an important part in Ohio university's championship hopes.

A Bobcat victory will clinch at least a tie for the pennant. The Athenians have a clean slate in the conference this season with wins over Ohio Wesleyan and Miami. Should Ohio lose or tie Saturday, Coach Don Peden's men must defeat Marshall in the closing game on the Ohio schedule next week if the 'Cats are to win the championship, or a share of it.

Ohio has more than one reason to win from Dayton, for it was the Flyer team which last Fall won from Ohio, 6 to 0, to break a long spell exercised by the Bobcats over visiting teams at Athens. Since the Ohio stadium was built in 1929 no team had ever beaten the 'Cats in Athens. Last year's game was lost in the closing second when Dayton's Jack Padley caught a touchdown pass.

Two Games To Remain

After the Ohio-Dayton game this week only two more Buckeye conference championship games remain on the schedule. Next week Ohio will play Marshall in what may be the deciding game of the race, and on Thanksgiving Day Ohio Wesleyan and Dayton will close the conference season with a game at Dayton.

While Ohio and Dayton are settling their issue Saturday, Marshall will attempt to break its three-game losing streak when it meets Cincinnati at Cincinnati. Miami will try to get back on the winning side in its game with Case at Cleveland and Ohio Wesleyan will entertain the rugged Centre college Colonels at Delaware.

Xavier, soon to come into the Buckeye, is idle, while Western State, which upset Butler last week, 13 to 0, will be host to Central State Teachers at Kalamazoo, Mich. Western State, like Xavier, will come into the conference in the near future.

The Standings:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Ohio	2	0	1.000
Marshall	2	1	.667
Dayton	1	1	.500
Ohio Wesleyan	1	2	.333
Miami	1	3	.250

SNEAD IN LEAD AS ACE GOLFERS SEEK BIG PRIZE

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Slammin' Sam Snead, hot hometown favorite, held a one stroke lead as 60 survivors teed off in the final 36-hole round of the $3,000 White Sulphur Springs open golf championship today.

Snead, who carried his year's earnings over the $17,000 mark when he grabbed the $5,000 first money in the Westchester open, had sub par 68's on each of his previous rounds for a 136 total.

Closest to him was steady-shooting Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., with 68-69-137. Jules Huot, former Canadian open champ from Quebec, Que., who led with a brilliant 66 Tuesday, slumped to a 72 yesterday for a 138 aggregate and a tie for third place with Ky Laffoon, Chicago, and Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va. Harry Cooper, Chicago and Billy Burke, Bellair, Fla., were with in easy striking distance at 139, one stroke under Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, Tony Bulla, Chicago, and Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del. Sammy Byrd, ex-New York Yankee baseball player from Philadelphia, and Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., were five strokes off the pace with 141's.

JANKE RETURNS TO WOLVERINES AS ANKLE HEALS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Capt. Fred Janke, left tackle who injured his ankle in a scrimmage Tuesday, returned to the Michigan squad today and took part in a light signal drill. The Wolverines wound up preparations for their game against Northwestern Saturday with a kicking and passing drill.

CHAMPAGNE, Ill., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Eight men who will wear the orange and blue of Illinois for the last time Saturday lined up with the regular squad today in a brief signal and passing drill. Capt. Jim McDonald, Zimmerman, Castello, Hodges, Burris, Pezzoli, Wardley, and Kanosky, all seniors, worked with the first team. The team closes its season against Ohio State.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The Chicago Maroons wound up contact work for Saturday's "homecoming" game against Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of the Pacific squad with a blocking and pass defense drill today. Chicago will try for its second victory of the season.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Indiana worked on offensive methods today, priming for Saturday's contest with the Iowa Hawkeyes. Coach Bo McMillin drilled his squad on power plays, short passes and place kicking.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Coach Elmer Layden indicated today that he would start the Notre Dame shock troops against Minnesota Saturday. "We'll be in there to win, but then we always are," he said. The varsity took part in a light drill yesterday.

ILLINI TO TEST OHIO'S ABILITY TO COME BACK

Bucks Face Big Task in Urbana Contest; Lou Young on Bench

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Will the 1938 Ohio State football team, stunned by an unexpected defeat from Purdue, recover for its last two games?

The not-so-simple answer to that simple question has the grid bugs in a dither up and down the main stems of every Ohio city and hamlet.

Most of them sympathize with Herr Francis Schmidt, head pigskin professor at Ohio State, who must try to rally a predominantly "young" team, afflicted with the jitters all season, to point for two traditional foes, Illinois and Michigan, who have a habit of playing inspired football against the Bucks.

About Schmidt's only consolation is that the Bucks face Illinois ahead of the Wolverines, snarling ahead in their season since 1933. Looking at the record, Illinois would seem to rate no more than even in the game next Saturday at Urbana, Ill. Both Illinois and Ohio State have conquered Indiana while Northwestern has beaten the Illini by two touchdowns but was held to a scoreless deadlock by Ohio State.

Psychology Involved

But there is another element involved, psychology, and Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois is a past master in utilizing any mental advantages for all their worth. Zuppke likes to beat Schmidt-coached teams and dampen their "razzle-dazzle" offense with his pet "flea-flicker" formations.

Besides being keyed up by Zuppke, the Illinois gridders will have had two weeks to prepare for the Bucks after an open date last week, they will be playing on home sod and they will be seeking their victory over Ohio State since 1934.

The Illini ran through one of their best practice drills of the season Wednesday as Cliff Peterson and Bo Burris, shifty backs, sparked drives for five touchdowns in 20 minutes against a freshman team. Eight seniors will be playing their last home games for Illinois, Saturday.

The Ohio State camp was hit by a new injury when Lou Young, 211-pound reserve tackle from Massillon, was forced to retire with an injured knee. Alex Schoenbaum, regular left tackle, remained out of uniform to receive treatments for bruises suffered in the Purdue game while Pete

Iowa coaches were cheered today by the apparent return to form of two Hawkeyes who have been out most of the season. Nile Kinnick, left halfback, and Frank Balazs, fullback, took part in a dummy scrimmage against Indiana plays. The Hawkeyes play their last conference game of the season against the Hoosiers Saturday.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Frank Bykowski and Jack Winchell appeared to have earned positions as the regular Purdue guards today. Both are former

Volts; Untested, Ignore Chance For Rose Bowl

By Henry McLemore

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 10.—(UP)—This is the home of the undefeated, untied University of Tennessee football team, but there are no Rose Bowl jitters here.

Tennessee had that Pacific coast plague in 1929, and has been immune ever since. That was the year that McEver, Hackman, Dodd and Co. took the field against Kentucky in the last game of the season knowing that their coach, Major Bob Neyland, had an invitation to the bowl in his pocket, and that victory would make it binding.

More than one Knoxville citizen still is crying over what happened. Linnen suits, bought for the expected trip to the coast, had to be turned over to the mothers. Children, sent to grandma for safe-keeping while mama and papa were in California, had to be recalled. Hundreds of stay-behinds, who had been promised boxes of oranges, were disappointed.

Tie Ended Hopes

Because Kentucky, with a team scarcely worth the sweaters on its back, up and tied Tennessee, and rendered void the bid to the biggest of all post-season games. That cured Tennessee. Since that time it has made a business of looking no farther than the next game, and the fact that it has only to hurdle Vanderbilt, Kentucky, and Ole Miss to achieve a perfect season has not caused it to look toward the future through rose (bowl) colored glasses.

I saw Tennessee, conqueror of Alabama among others, work out yesterday. As I walked down the field with Major Neyland I made a casual reference to the Rose Bowl. He drew himself to his full West Point height, froze up like Washington at Valley Forge.

"Our next game," the major said, "is with Vanderbilt, and not on the Pacific coast."

It was not until late in the evening, while we sat around the living room of his lovely home, that the major thawed out and talked about his football team.

The team is a mystery to him, just as it is a mystery to the city of Knoxville, the state of Tennessee, rival coaches, and all the critics who have seen it in action.

May Be Best Team

"I don't know how good it is," Major Neyland said. "When we started practice I agreed with the sports writers who had placed it in the second division of the conference, behind Alabama, L. S. U. and Auburn. Then a pair of sophomore guards got hot, and a sopho-

Gales, veteran guard, was in uniform but did not participate in the drills.

Schmidt continued to polish up the Bucks aerial attack while warning them against tricks in the Illinois offense.

Ohio State will entrain for Urbana Friday morning.

more tackle and back followed suit. Maybe they'll cool off. If we lick Vanderbilt, I'll admit it is a good team. I'll even go past that—I'll admit that it is the best balanced team I have had in 12 years of coaching here."

The sparkplug of Neyland's team is George Cafego, a Hungarian back who operates along the lines of Marshall Goldberg. He is a fine passer, a sound kicker, and a strong runner. The team goes when Cafego is in there. Pres. sing him for top honors is a young sophomore named Fox. On the line the outstanding workman is Wyatt, the captain and right end.

The team hasn't been extended all year. Not even Neyland knows to what heights it might soar if pitted against a worthy rival.

Maybe Vanderbilt will make the Vols go all out Saturday. And if not Vanderbilt, perhaps the California champion, in the Rose Bowl.

FEATHERS WORKS OUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Beattie Feathers, smashing halfback of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will practice with the squad today for the first time since he was injured in the Brooklyn-Washington 6-6 tie 10 days ago. He suffered a fracture of the frontal sinus when kicked in a pileup, but the injury was not as serious as had been believed.

SHARK TIRELESS SWIMMER

SYDNEY, Australia.—(UP)—During the four years that Skipper IV, a gray nurse shark, has been confined in the local aquarium pool and where it has never been seen to stop swimming, it is estimated that the fish covered 105-120 miles at three miles per hour. It has also eaten 5,840 pounds of kingfish and bonito during that time.

ILLINI TO TEST OHIO'S ABILITY TO COME BACK

Bucks Face Big Task in Urbana Contest; Lou Young on Bench

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Will the 1938 Ohio State football team, stunned by an unexpected defeat from Purdue, recover for its last two games?

The not-so-simple answer to that simple question has the grid bugs in a dither up and down the main stems of every Ohio city and hamlet.

Most of them sympathize with Herr Francis Schmidt, head pigskin professor at Ohio State, who must try to rally a predominantly "young" team, afflicted with the jitters all season, to point for two traditional foes, Illinois and Michigan, who have a habit of playing inspired football against the Bucks.

About Schmidt's only consolation is that the Bucks face Illinois ahead of the Wolverines, snarling in their season since 1933. Looking at the record, Illinois would seem to rate no more than even in the game next Saturday at Urbana, Ill. Both Illinois and Ohio State have conquered Indiana while Northwestern has beaten the Illini by two touchdowns but was held to a scoreless deadlock by Ohio State.

Psychology Involved
But there is another element involved, psychology, and Coach Bob Zupke of Illinois is a past master in utilizing any mental advantages for all their worth. Zupke likes to beat Schmidt-coached teams and dampen their "razzle-dazzle" offense with his pet "flea-flicker" formations.

Besides being keyed up by Zupke, the Illinois gridgers will have had two weeks to prepare for the Bucks after an open date last week, they will be playing on home sod and they will be seeking their victory over Ohio State since 1934.

The Illini ran through one of their best practice drills of the season Wednesday as Cliff Peterson and Bo Burris, shifty backs, sparked drives for five touchdowns in 20 minutes against a freshman team. Eight seniors will be playing their last home games for Illinois, Saturday.

The Ohio State camp was hit by a new injury when Lou Young, 211-pound reserve tackle from Massillon, was forced to retire with an injured knee. Alex Schoenbaum, regular left tackle, remained out of uniform to receive treatments for bruises suffered in the Purdue game while Pete

Iowa coaches were cheered today by the apparent return to form of two Hawkeyes who have been out most of the season. Nile Kinnick, left halfback, and Frank Balazs, fullback, took part in a dummy scrimmage against Indiana plays. The Hawkeyes play their last conference game of the season against the Hoosiers Saturday.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Frank Bykowski and Jack Winchell appeared to have earned positions as the regular Purdue guards today. Both are former reserves.

Vols; Untested, Ignore Chance For Rose Bowl

By Henry McLemore
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 10.—(UP)—This is the home of the undefeated, untied University of Tennessee football team, but there are no Rose Bowl jitters here.

Tennessee had that Pacific coast plague in 1929, and has been immune ever since. That was the year that McEver, Hackman, Dodd and Co. took the field against Kentucky in the last game of the season knowing that their coach, Major Bob Neyland, had an invitation to the bowl in his pocket, and that victory would make it binding.

More than one Knoxville citizen still is crying over what happened. Linen suits, bought for the expected trip to the coast, had to be turned over to the moth. Children, sent to grandma for safe-keeping while mama and papa were in California, had to be recalled. Hundreds of stay-behinds, who had been promised boxes of oranges, were disappointed.

Tie Ended Hopes

Because Kentucky, with a team scarcely worth the sweaters on its back, up and tied Tennessee, and rendered void the bid to the biggest of all post-season games. That cured Tennessee. Since that time it has made a business of looking no farther than the next game, and the fact that it has only to hurdle Vanderbilt, Kentucky, and Ole Miss to achieve a perfect season has not caused it to look toward the future through rose (bowl) colored glasses.

I saw Tennessee, conqueror of Alabama among others, work out yesterday. As I walked down the field with Major Neyland I made a casual reference to the Rose Bowl. He drew himself to his full West Point height, froze up like Washington at Valley Forge.

"Our next game," the major said, "is with Vanderbilt, and not on the Pacific coast."

It was not until late in the evening, while we sat around the living room of his lovely home, that the major thawed out and talked about his football team.

The team is a mystery to him, just as it is a mystery to the city of Knoxville, the state of Tennessee, rival coaches, and all the critics who have seen it in action.

May Be Best Team

"I don't know how good it is," Major Neyland said. "When we started practice I agreed with the sports writers who had placed it in the second division of the conference, behind Alabama, L. S. U. and Auburn. Then a pair of sophomore guards got hot, and a sopho-

Gales, veteran guard, was in uniform but did not participate in the drills.

Schmidt continued to polish up the Bucks aerial attack while warning them against tricks in the Illinois offense.

Ohio State will entrain for Urbana Friday morning.

more tackle and back followed suit. Maybe they'll cool off. If we lick Vanderbilt, I'll admit it is a good team. I'll even go past that—I'll admit that it is the best balanced team I have had in 12 years of coaching here."

The sparkplug of Neyland's team is George Cafego, a Hungarian back who operates along the lines of Marshall Goldberg. He is a fine passer, a sound kicker, and a strong runner. The team goes when Cafego is in there. Pres. sing him for top honors is a young sophomore named Fox. On the line the outstanding workman is Wyatt, the captain and right end.

The team hasn't been extended all year. Not even Neyland knows to what heights it might soar if pitted against a worthy rival.

Maybe Vanderbilt will make the Vols go all out Saturday. And if not Vanderbilt, perhaps the California champion, in the Rose Bowl.

FEATHERS WORKS OUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Beattie Feathers, smashing halfback of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will practice with the squad today for the first time since he was injured in the Brooklyn-Washington 6-6 tie 10 days ago. He suffered a fracture of the frontal sinus when kicked in a pileup, but the injury was not as serious as had been believed.

SHARK TIRELESS SWIMMER

SYDNEY, Australia.—(UP)—During the four years that Skipper IV, a gray nurse shark, has been confined in the local aquarium pool and where it has never been seen to stop swimming, it is estimated that the fish covered 105-120 miles at three miles per hour. It has also eaten 5,840 pounds of kingfish and bonito during that time.

Dairy Price To Follow Nation's Business Trend

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—Milk and cream prices and returns to dairy farmers in 1939 will depend materially on the extent to which improvement in consumer incomes and demand affect dairy products, Ivan McKellip, animal husbandry specialist at Ohio State university, declares.

"The annual dairy outlook report of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics," Mr. McKellip said, "points out that marked improvement in the general level of dairy products prices can come only with further recovery in business and a rise in the general level of prices." He said, however, that prices of dairy products are relatively high compared with feed costs and are likely to continue so during the winter season.

Reports of the number of heifers on hand and the number of heifer calves being saved indicate more than enough to provide for normal replacements in 1939 and 1940.

It appears from these reports that the decline in milk cow numbers which started in 1934 has been checked, and that an increase is in prospect.

Feed supplies are abundant and milk cow prices are high compared with the general price level for farm products. This price ratio has stimulated the saving of heifer calves and tended to reduce culling. In 1938, the number of cows eliminated from herds was relatively high but was decidedly less than in 1936 and 1937.

"It seems probable," the report continued, "that culling will decline further and that farmers are preparing to increase rapidly the number of milk cows and other cattle."

By regions, it appears that all areas are likely to participate in the expansion. Major increases in commercial dairy production over the longer term are likely to come in some of the old established dairy areas where improved practices are being adopted and in some of the newer areas where there have been recent marked upward tendencies in production.

Long-term trends in dairy production appear to be moderately upward in the North Atlantic states, the Lake states, and in localized areas in the Southern states at the northern edge of the Cotton Belt, and in Texas. Over a somewhat longer term, adjustments in the Corn Belt may cause expansion in dairy production.

For the coming winter, abundant feed supplies and feed prices favorable to production indicate milk production will continue at a new peak for the winter season. Fluid milk and cream consumption, however, is expected to be about the same as a year earlier.

Butter stocks are reported unusually large for this time of year, and butter prices may hold within a range representing a moderate seasonal advance for the winter and early spring season. Consumption of butter and other manufactured dairy products this year has shown very little change from 1937 in spite of the large stocks and the sharp lowering prices during the early months of 1938.

D. C. Hamilton wired G. O. P. headquarters at Indianapolis that the committee "stands ready with all its powers to demand a fair count."

Vigo county Republican leaders said they had found no irregularities in the counting of the ballots but were expected to file a complaint over the alleged delay.

CATTLE PRICES STEADY, HOGS DOWN 10 CENTS

WILLIAMSPORT

The young people of the M. E. Sunday School enjoyed a Halloween carnival at the Sulphur Spring Pavilion, Monday evening.

The pleasant affair was arranged by G. P. Hunsicker, superintendent of the Sunday School, and its officers and teachers. The entertainment for the evening included a free picture show, music by the Yinger orchestra and a grand march with various prizes for those in costume. Prizes for the ugliest costume went to Ethel and Jo Lockard, first; Mrs. Walter Wright, second; Prettiest, Letitia Gamble, first; Glen Whitten, Jr., second; Characteristic, Warren Wright, first; Bobby Metzger, second; Cute, Marjorie Rinehart, first; and Jeanne Rose, second. Virginia Buskirk also received a prize. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served to more than 125 children and young people, by the committee.

Williamsport—Miss Margaret Dunlap was hostess to the contract bridge club, at her home, Tuesday evening. Dinner was served at a candle-light table centered with a silver vase of chrysanthemums. The members present were: Mrs. Russell McDill of Frankfort; Mrs. Le Luellen, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mrs. S. B. Metzger, Miss Laura McGhee and Miss Dunlap. Mrs. William Dunlap was guest player. Several rounds of bridge were enjoyed following the dinner.

Williamsport—Mrs. George Hamman, Jr., was hostess Thursday afternoon to one guest and ten members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Brown's Chapel, at her home, near Williamsport. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jesse Rose, who presided during the business session. The Devotional Service was conducted by Mrs. Roy Anderson. Mrs. David Patton, program leader for the afternoon, presented the following program: Review of the Study Book, "Moving Millions"; Mrs. Hamman; Piano Solo, Miss Roma Slager; Readings, Mrs. Philip Dunlap, Mrs. C. C. Reed, Mrs. Sherman Campbell and Mrs. Edward Schlager.

During the social hour delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Philip Dunlap, the guest, presided at the tea table. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jesse Rose, Thursday afternoon, December 1.

Dairy Price To Follow Nation's Business Trend

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—Milk and cream prices and returns to dairy farmers in 1939 will depend materially on the extent to which improvement in consumer incomes and demand affect dairy products, Ivan McKellip, animal husbandry specialist at Ohio State university, declares.

"The annual dairy outlook report of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics," Mr. McKellip said, "points out that marked improvement in the general level of dairy products prices can come only with further recovery in business and a rise in the general level of prices." He said, however, that prices of dairy products are relatively high compared with feed costs and are likely to continue so during the winter season.

Reports of the number of heifers on hand and the number of heifer calves being saved indicate more than enough to provide for normal replacements in 1939 and 1940. It appears from these reports that the decline in milk cow numbers which started in 1934 has been checked, and that an increase is in prospect.

Feed supplies are abundant and milk cow prices are high compared with the general price level for farm products. This price ratio has stimulated the saving of heifer calves and tended to reduce culling. In 1938, the number of cows eliminated from herds was relatively high but was decidedly less than in 1936 and 1937. "It seems probable," the report continued, "that culling will decline further and that farmers are preparing to increase rapidly the number of milk cows and other cattle."

By regions, it appears that all areas are likely to participate in the expansion. Major increases in commercial dairy production over the longer term are likely to come in some of the old established dairy areas where improved practices are being adopted and in some of the newer areas where there have been recent marked upward tendencies in production.

Long-time trends in dairy production appear to be moderately upward in the North Atlantic states, the Lake states, and in localized areas in the Southern states at the northern edge of the Cotton Belt, and in Texas. Over a somewhat longer term, adjustments in the Corn Belt may cause expansion in dairy production.

For the coming winter, abundant feed supplies and feed prices favorable to production indicate milk production will continue at a new peak for the winter season. Fluid milk and cream consumption, however, is expected to be about the same as a year earlier.

Butter stocks are reported unusually large for this time of year, and butter prices may hold within a range representing a moderate seasonal advance for the winter and early spring season. Consumption of butter and other manufactured dairy products this year has shown very little change from 1937 in spite of the large stocks and the sharp lowering prices during the early months of 1938.

It was expected that Willis would pick up votes from rural areas as farmers cast a heavy protest vote Tuesday against 30 cent corn prices and New Deal farm policies.

WILLIAMSPORT

The young people of the M. E. Sunday School enjoyed a Halloween carnival at the Sulphur Spring Pavilion, Monday evening. The pleasant affair was arranged by G. P. Hunsicker, superintendent of the Sunday School, and its officers and teachers. The entertainment for the evening included a free picture show, music by the Yinger orchestra and a grand march with various prizes for those in costume. Prizes for the ugliest costume went to Ethel and Jo Lockard, first; Mrs. Walter Wright, second; Prettiest, Letitia Gamble, first; Glen Whitten, Jr., second; Characteristic, Warren Wright, first; Bobby Metzger, second; Cute, Marjorie Rinehart, first; and Jeanne Rose, second. Virginia Buskirk also received a prize. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served to more than 125 children and young people, by the committee.

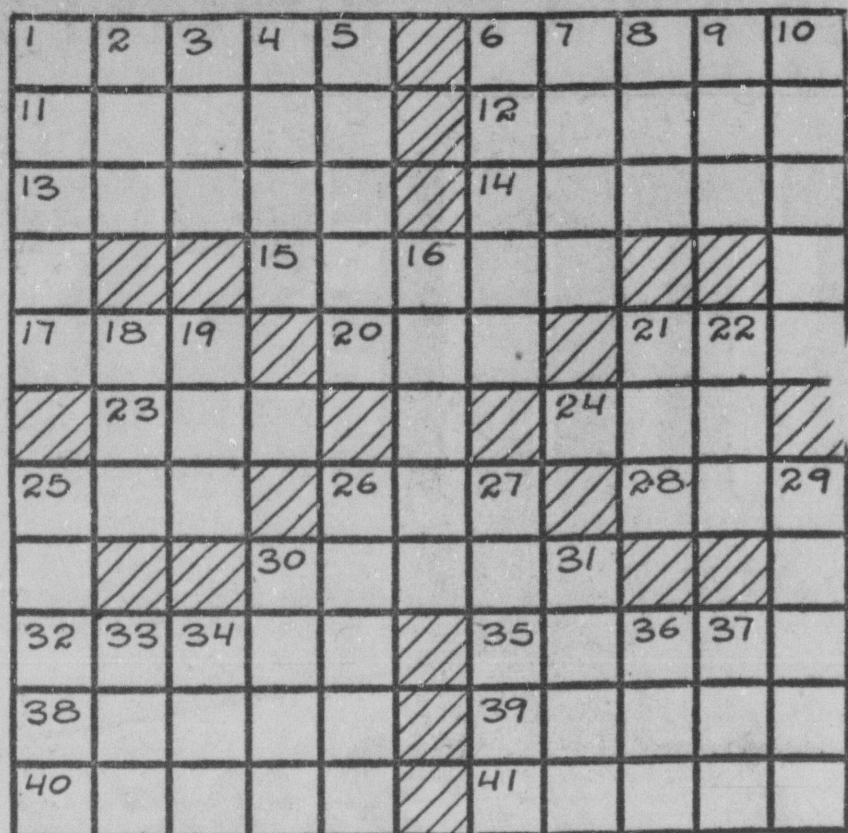

Miss Margaret Dunlap was hostess to the contract bridge club, at her home, Tuesday evening. Dinner was served at a candle-light table centered with a silver vase of chrysanthemums. The members present were: Mrs. Russell McDill of Frankfort; Mrs. Lee Luellen, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mrs. S. B. Metzger, Miss Laura McGhee and Miss Dunlap. Mrs. William Dunlap was guest player. Several rounds of bridge were enjoyed following the dinner.

William Hamman, Jr., was hostess Thursday afternoon to one guest and ten members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Brown's Chapel, at her home, near Williamsport. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jesse Rose, who presided during the business session. The Devotional Service was conducted by Mrs. Roy Anderson. Mrs. David Patton, program leader for the afternoon, presented the following program: Review of the Study Book, "Moving Millions", Mrs. Hamman; Piano Solo, Miss Roma Slager; Readings, Mrs. Philip Dunlap, Mrs. G. C. Reed, Mrs. Sherman Campbell and Mrs. Edward Schlager.

During the social hour delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

SCOUT LEADERS DISCUSS FUTURE ACTIVITY IN PICKAWAY COUNTY

DISTRICT HONOR COURT PLANNED ON DECEMBER 11

Will Reports Reserve Fund Set Up to Aid Future Financial Drives

COMMISSION CORPS AIRED

Annual Conference to be Held in Circleville in January

The Pickaway district Boy Scout committee met Wednesday in the American hotel coffee shop and took action on various matters pertaining to the Boy Scout movement in Circleville and Pickaway county. James I. Smith, Jr., presided.

Clark Will, treasurer of the annual sustaining membership appeal for scouting in the county last Spring, reported that a small reserve fund had been established for future campaigns, due to success in achieving the amount sought in the last two years.

E. C. Ebert, chairman of the committee on scout advancement, reported on recent Courts of Honor in the district and urged more scouts to participate. He announced that the annual Council-wide Court of Honor for the recognition of Eagle Scouts would be held in Columbus, Sunday, Dec. 11.

Howard Kautz, field scout executive, presented a report on membership and troop operations of local units, revealing increases over a year ago. There are now eight active Boy Scout troops and one active Cub pack in the Pickaway district.

Plans for the development of a Neighborhood Commission corps, to service and visit troops, was discussed with William D. Radcliff, newly appointed district com-

'Dads' Dairymen Talk Ordinance

Councilmen, members of the city board of health and milk dealers met in the council chamber Wednesday night to discuss a proposed ordinance to regulate the sale of milk and milk products in the city.

M. J. Dotter, chief milk sanitarian of the State Department of Health, attended the meeting and discussed with the group the ordinance recently read once before council. This ordinance, copied after one used in Columbus, needs many revisions to properly meet the needs of Circleville, he pointed out. Councilmen referred the matter to Mr. Dotter and Carl C. Leist, solicitor, to revise the ordinance and present it at the next regular meeting of council.

An ordinance regulating the sale of milk and milk products in the city was requested by the board of health. Circleville has no such regulations.

Approximately 20 persons, including members of the board of health and milk dealers, met with council. Milk dealers expressed their willingness to cooperate with city officials in meeting the regulations established.

Councilman John Neuding is chairman of council as a commissioner, heading this phase of the work.

The district committee, which is comprised of troop committeemen and other interested scouts, decided to hold its annual meeting in January. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, E. C. Ebert, the Rev. Ellsworth Allen of Commercial Point, Mr. Smith and Mr. Kautz were appointed on a committee to develop plans for the meeting.

Other items which were discussed at the luncheon were the troop budget plan, future training for leaders and prospective new troops.

Among those who attended the meeting were Dwight Steele, Frank Barnhill, Dan McClain, Renick Dunlap, Dr. David Goldschmidt, the Rev. Mr. Kelsey, James I. Smith Jr., Clark Will, Ralph Heistand, Dr. F. C. Schaefer, the Rev. Mr. Allen, E. C. Ebert and Mr. Kautz.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

The amateur and professional sleuths are being well entertained at the Grand Theatre Friday and Saturday, where Universal's latest mystery-comedy, "Personal Secretary," is the current attraction.

Filmed from the original screenplay by Betty Laidlaw, Robert Lively and Charles Grayson, the story contains far more than the usual amount of surprising twists and in addition, a grand but almost comical love element rarely discovered in this type of motion picture.

There is a solid, ingenious plot. The poisoned man's widow is on trial and obviously guilty of murder. It is here that two rival newspaper columnists, Joy Hodges and William Gargan take the case into their own hands, each on a different tangent.

Through intrigue, skulduggery and counterplotting, the innocent widow is saved from execution and the real killer brought to justice; but only after Joy and Bill lose their hearts in the mile-a-minute confusion and excitement.

Andy Devine, Ruth Donnelly and Florence Roberts combine sincerity as well as vast humor and add to the many complex situations.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Joe Penner, the ga-ga gentleman who has informed the world he's from the city, has turned country boy and cowboy!

He's gone for the wide open spaces.

es, garbed in chaps and spurs, in RKO Radio's comedy, "I'm From the City" which is showing Friday and Saturday on a double feature with Gene Autry at The Cliftona Theatre. Penner even marries a country girl, Lorraine Krueger, in the photoplay, which presents him as a dare-devil circus bareback rider who hates horses and can ride only when hypnotized. Taken to the country for a vacation, he finds himself involved in a contest of bronco-busting, daring riding and rough romance with his cowgirl sweetheart.

AT THE CIRCLE

Since Warner Oland, portrayer of Charlie Chan in the movies, died recently, a clamor has arisen as to whom will replace the veteran star.

Boris Karloff was suggested by many fans as the logical player to continue with the role of Chan, but he had already signed with Monogram Pictures to appear as "Mr. Wong" in a series of mysteries, based upon Hugh Wiley's popular magazine stories.

The first of these films, "Mr. Wong, Detective," has been completed and is at the Circle theatre. Grant Withers and Maxine Jennings appear in support of Karloff, in which he is seen as a crafty and studious Chinese sleuth who unravels a mystifying triple murder.

A man from the Island of Tristan de Cunha, said to be the world's loneliest spot, declares no one has visited the place for years. Not even Mrs. Roosevelt?

ATLANTA

Mrs. Clark Lane of Frankfort, Mrs. Charles Lozier, Mrs. Marvin Schiering, Mrs. Leslie Canup and Mrs. Homer Wright were guests Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Edward Schiering was hostess to her card club at her beautiful country home on Route 277.

The members present were Mesdames Harold Slagle of Washington C. H. McKinley Kirk, Vanmeter Hulse, Paul Peck, George Betts, Stella Dawson, John Farmer Jr., Omer Creighton, George McGhee, and Wendell Evans.

The afternoon was spent in playing auction bridge with trophies for high score going to Mrs. Wright, second high to Mrs. Evans, and traveling to Mrs. Farmer.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. McGhee, served a tempting salad course at the close of the game.

Atlanta

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fosnaugh and son Wilfred of Lancaster were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Canup.

Atlanta

Mrs. Lena Crawford of Five Points was a visitor Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hamilton.

SCOUT LEADERS DISCUSS FUTURE ACTIVITY IN PICKAWAY COUNTY

DISTRICT HONOR COURT PLANNED ON DECEMBER 11

Will Reports Reserve Fund Set Up to Aid Future Financial Drives

COMMISSION CORPS AIRED

Annual Conference to be Held in Circleville in January

The Pickaway district Boy Scout committee met Wednesday in the American hotel coffee shop and took action on various matters pertaining to the Boy Scout movement in Circleville and Pickaway county. James I. Smith, Jr., presided.

Clark Will, treasurer of the annual sustaining membership appeal for scouting in the county last Spring, reported that a small reserve fund had been established for future campaigns, due to success in achieving the amount sought in the last two years.

E. C. Ebert, chairman of the committee on scout advancement, reported on recent Courts of Honor in the district and urged more scouts to participate. He announced that the annual council-wide Court of Honor for the recognition of Eagle Scouts would be held in Columbus, Sunday, Dec. 11.

Howard Kautz, field scout executive, presented a report on membership and troop operations of local units, revealing increases over a year ago. There are now eight active Boy Scout troops and one active Cub pack in the Pickaway district.

Plans for the development of a Neighborhood Commission corps, to service and visit troops, was discussed with William D. Radcliff, newly appointed district com-

'Dads' Dairymen Talk Ordinance

Councilmen, members of the city board of health and milk dealers met in the council chamber Wednesday night to discuss a proposed ordinance to regulate the sale of milk and milk products in the city.

M. J. Dotter, chief milk sanitarian of the State Department of Health, attended the meeting and discussed with the group the ordinance recently read once before council. This ordinance, copied after one used in Columbus, needs many revisions to properly meet the needs of Circleville, he pointed out. Councilmen referred the matter to Mr. Dotter and Carl C. Leist, solicitor, to revise the ordinance and present it at the next regular meeting of council.

An ordinance regulating the sale of milk and milk products in the city was requested by the board of health. Circleville has no such regulations.

Approximately 20 persons, including members of the board of health and milk dealers, met with council. Milk dealers expressed their willingness to cooperate with city officials in meeting the regulations established.

Councilman John Neuding is chairman of council as a committee on the ordinance.

missioner, heading this phase of the work.

The district committee, which is comprised of troop committeemen and other interested scouts, decided to hold its annual meeting in January. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, E. C. Ebert, the Rev. Ellsworth Allen of Commercial Point, Mr. Smith and Mr. Kautz were appointed on a committee to develop plans for the meeting.

Other items which were discussed at the luncheon were the troop budget plan, future training for leaders and prospective new troops.

Among those who attended the meeting were Dwight Steele, Frank Barnhill, Dan McClain, Renick Dunlap, Dr. David Goldschmidt, the Rev. Mr. Kelsey, James I. Smith Jr., Clark Will, Ralph Heistand, Dr. F. C. Schaefer, the Rev. Mr. Allen, E. C. Ebert and Mr. Kautz.

es, garbed in chaps and spurs, in RKO Radio's comedy, "I'm From the City" which is showing Friday and Saturday on a double feature with Gene Autry at The Cliftona Theatre. Penner even marries a country girl, Lorraine Krueger, in the photoplay, which presents him as a dare-devil circus bare-back rider who hates horses and can ride only when hypnotized. Taken to the country for a vacation, he finds himself involved in a contest of bronco-busting, daring riding and rough romance with his cowgirl sweetheart.

AT THE CIRCLE

Since Warner Oland, portrayer of Charlie Chan in the movies, died recently, a clamor has arisen as to whom will replace the veteran star.

Boris Karloff was suggested by many fans as the logical player to continue with the role of Chan, but he had already signed with Monogram Pictures to appear as "Mr. Wong" in a series of mysteries, based upon Hugh Wiley's popular magazine stories.

The first of these films, "Mr. Wong, Detective," has been completed and is at the Circle theatre. Grant Withers and Maxine Jennings appear in support of Karloff, in which he is seen as a crafty and studious Chinese sleuth who unravels a mystifying triple murder.

A man from the Island of Tristan de Cunha, said to be the world's loneliest spot, declares no one has visited the place for years. Not even Mrs. Roosevelt?

ATLANTA

Mrs. Clark Lane of Frankfort, Mrs. Charles Lozier, Mrs. Marvin Schiering, Mrs. Leslie Canup and Mrs. Homer Wright were guests Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Edward Schiering was hostess to her card club at her beautiful country home on Route 277.

The members present were Mesdames Harold Slagle of Washington C. H. McKinley Kirk, Vanmeter Hulse, Paul Peck, George Betts, Stella Dawson, John Farmer Jr., Omer Creighton, George McGhee, and Wendell Evans.

The afternoon was spent in playing auction bridge with trophies for high score going to Mrs. Wright, second high to Mrs. Evans, and traveling to Mrs. Farmer.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. McGhee, served a tempting salad course at the close of the game.

Atlanta—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fosnaugh and son Wilfred of Lancaster were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Canup.

Atlanta—Mrs. Lena Crawford of Five Points was a visitor Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hamilton.

Atlanta—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ater and son entertained for dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Willis of Clarksburg.
